A Story for Heartstrings

It was on an inside page, under a one-column head.

The head read: "Corky Kelly to Follow Steps of Famous Dad."

It was a story that reached out and plucked at the heart. It was a story which brought back the tenderness, the fears and great concern of the first days after December 7, 1941.

There was gloom then . . . much of it. And a stricken United States slowly was getting up off the floor after the Pearl Harbor knock-down. A lot of people were getting some comfort out of what Cordell Hull, secretary of state, had said to the Japanese envoys, who were calling to discuss peace when the Nipponese air force attacked out of the Sunday dawn.

And there were stories of gallantry which flashed through the gloom like lightning strokes.

And one of these was Captain Colin Kelly, pilot of a B17, operating out of Clark Field in the Philippines, where General MacArthur's planes, despite the warning of Pearl, had also been caught. Captain Kelly took his ship out on December 10, 1941. They flew the mission, dropped their bombs on the target, and were returning. Utterly alone, possessed of only their own inadequate fire power, the bomber was jumped by Japanese Zero fighters.

Fire in Bomber

Explosions were set off inside the bomber and fire broke out. One man was killed at his station. Six crew members, parachuted out. Captain Kelly maneuvered the burning bomber to facilitate their jump. He then sought to get away himself. He could not clear the ship.

It was another of the many tragic, yet glorious stories on which the country lived in those dread days when nothing seemed to stand between the Japs and Australia. Day after day the bad news came. But we knew from Captain Kelly and others like him that the fiber of America was strong.

In Washington Franklin D. Roosevelt read the story of Colin Kelly. He read, too, that the Captain left a widow and a small son, then 16 months old.

Franklin Roosevelt did a typical, impulsive thing.

He wrote a letter to the President of the United States in 1956 . . . 15 years away. "I would like to request," he wrote, "that the merits of a young American youth of goodly heritage be considered for appointment to the academy as a token of the nation's appreciation of the heroic services of his father, Army Air Force Captain Colin P. Kelly, Jr. . . ."

The letter was placed in the National Archives. In early 1956 it was delivered to President Dwight D. Eisenhower who, in December, 1941, was a newly made brigadier general at Fort Sam Houston, near San Antonio, Texas. Two days after Captain Kelly had died in his ship. Brigadier Eisenhower was called to Washington to assist with war plans, Pacific area, for the General Staff.

Young Kelly

A few days ago young Kelly, now 17, made up his mind he wanted to go to West Point and have a military career. Soon he and his family will go to the Point to make inquiries about what sort of studies young Kelly will need. He will have a year at an unnamed college before entering as a plebe.

The 17-year-old boy, who was nominated for West Point at the age of 16 months for FDR, is 6 feet, two inches tall. He is president of his high school student body. He has a high scholastic rating and is an Eagle Scout. He has been active in sports and is especially good in soccer, football. From his pictures he is a handsome young man of the type called "fine looking."

"We hope he can enter West Point quietly, as any other plebe," his mother said. He probably can't. But it would be good if he could. The publicity and information media of the nation owe him and his father just a line to say that print the plebe class is Colin Kelly, III, aged 18.

Those of us who remember the grim days after December 1941, and the story of his father, will not need more than that to offer up a prayer for the boy and wish him well.

Bulganin Falls And Khrushchev Is a New Stalin

By WHITMAN BASSOW

MOSCOW (AP)—Communist Chief Nikita Khrushchev took over as Soviet premier Thursday in a swift, surprise move that made him Russia's most powerful ruler since Josef Stalin.

He retains his job as first secretary of the Communist Party.

Khrushchev took over the premiership from Nikolai Bulganin.

Those fall from favor was first noted in a Kremlin crisis last autumn.

The inaugural session of the new Supreme Soviet — Russia's parliament—ousts Bulganin and installed Khrushchev as the nation's supreme ruler in a smooth procedure that took only a few minutes.

When it was over, the smiling Khrushchev stepped to the microphone and pledged that "I shall do everything to justify your confidence and shall not spare strength, health or life to serve you."

Led by Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan, members of the Presidium one by one congratulated Khrushchev.

Only the somber Bulganin did not shake his hand. Khrushchev, the 63-year-old Ukrainian miner's son, thus added the top administrative power to his control of the party machine at the height of Russia's drive for an East-West summit conference.

STALIN'S ROLE

It was the same combination of powers which Stalin had held from 1941 until his death in 1953.

The major re-shuffle took place before an international audience that included all top Soviet leaders and the foreign diplomatic envoys — among them U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson.

It came at a time when United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld was in Moscow for important talks with Soviet officials. Hammarskjöld, however, did not attend the parliamentary session.

The diplomats believed Khrushchev's assumption of the premiership may have been decided

Road Bill Offers State $45 Million

Georgia would get $45 million under a speeded up, antirecession interstate highway bill passed by the Senate Thursday to create thousands of new jobs over the next two years.

The Senate bill, now in the House, also would give Georgia an additional $8 million to build primary, secondary and urban roads—the so-called A-B-C roads system.

The bill contained a controversial billboard provision to give states a bonus of one-half of one per cent of highway costs if the states impose federal standards on advertising along the new highways.

However, for Georgia to take advantage of this provision, the state legislature would have to pass a new law during its next session, the State Highway department said.

Ike Orders Speeding of Rockets To Take a Close Look at Moon

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is going to send rocket scoops to take a close look at the moon.

Orders for the "lunar probes" by unmanned space vehicles were issued Thursday by President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense McNamara.

The decision to press forward, with what only a little while ago would have seemed a fantastic project, followed by one day the President's publication of an official "Introduction to Outer Space." This was an outline by his science advisory committee of the reasons for space exploration and its possibilities and problems.

In this first long step, the government authorized the Air Force and Army to proceed with programs for launching four and perhaps five unmanned vehicles to explore "in the vicinity of the moon." The Navy is directed to DRIVER RECEIVED CUTS—An Atlanta doctor got out of this wreckage with cuts of the head and scalp after an Atlantic Coast Line switch engine hit it on Chappell road, NW, Thursday afternoon, police reported. Dr. Karl H. Rist of 2440 Edgewater Rd., SW, was treated at Grady Hospital. The engine was operated by R. D. Mallard of Manchester. No charges were made.

1-Mill Tax Rise Asked For Grady

By FRANK WELLS

A tax rate increase of one mill will be called for to meet increased operating costs of the new Grady Memorial Hospital, Chairman Hughes Spaulding of the Fulton-DeKalb Hospital Authority said Thursday afternoon at an authority meeting.

Spaulding said the tax increase will be necessary in Fulton County only, as DeKalb's pro-rata share of expenses probably could be met from its present levy. Fulton County's levy for the hospital is now four mills. Legal limit is five mills.

ABOUT $750,000

The authority asked the chairman to arrange a meeting with the Fulton County Commission to discuss the proposed levy increase.

One mill will raise about $750,000. Spaulding said that the cost of operating the hospital would run $1,000,000 more than last year. The difference would come from DeKalb County and from fees.

DeKalb pays a pro-rata share of expenses based on the number of patients who use the hospital. Spaulding said that figure is running about 13 per cent.

OFFICERS REELECTED

The authority also authorized the hospital to hire an additional 110 persons at an annual cost of $234,635. The new employees will include 29 graduate nurses, 41 aides, 12 laboratory workers, and other workers in X-Ray, laundry, shops, and grounds keepers.

The authority reelected all officers for 1958. Hughes Spaulding

Cabbie Keeps $11,200 He Found Despite Opposition in Next World

NEW YORK (AP)—A judge, showing little interest in visions, allowed a taxi driver Thursday to keep $11,200 he found in his cab.

Harold Petrie, 65, found the money in his cab last July 24 and turned it over to the police property clerk. Police allow the finder to keep the money if it isn't claimed in 90 days.

But Walter Robinson, 70, claimed it. He said Mrs. Josephine Norcum, whose estate he administers, appeared in a vision and told him the money was in a taxicab.

State Supreme Court Justice Arthur G. Klein dismissed Robinson's claim as fantastic.

Asked Thursday night what he would do with his new-found wealth, Petrie replied: "There's only one thing to do with money—spend it."

By CHARLES MOORE

The State Highway Department, under orders from the highway board, paid $32,698 for the creation of a road through an undeveloped 80-acre tract three months after it was bought by Cobb County Rep. Raymond M. Reed.

A highway engineer said he couldn't recall a similar Cobb County road that was built through undeveloped land. However, he said the highway board could order construction of a road anywhere it thought construction was advisable.

Shortly after the road was paved, Reed opened it for development as a subdivision of $18,000-$19,000 homes. He also sold part of the land for the site of a school. Reed also owns an adjoining 80-acre tract.

COUNTY CONTRACT

The road was paved under a county contract authorized by then Cobb County Commissioner Rhodie Ward in 1955. State Highway Department records show the state paid Cobb County a total of $32,698 for the creation of the road.

The state contract called for the paving of 1.614 miles of King Springs road from S. Cobb drive (Ga. 280) to Cooper Lake road. However, the road project runs a half mile down King Springs road, then makes a sharp turn through Reed's property and connects with N. Cooper Lake road. After it makes the turn, it takes on the name of Reed road.

LINK UNIMPROVED

The remaining half mile of King Springs road is still unpaved. County Commissioner Herbert C. McCollum said he plans to pave this section soon, using money raised in a recent Cobb County bond issue.

Ward said he ordered the road built for the benefit of the people who lived in the area. Asked if it was true that no one was living on the mile-long Reed road section when the project was started, Ward admitted it was true but added, "It served a useful purpose."

"Reed road was built because I thought it was needed," he said. "I'd have paved it myself if I had had the time and the money." Asked if Reed hadn't requested the road, Ward replied: "Yeah, Reed asked me to build the road but I told him I didn't have the money."

Ward said the project was done "from start to finish" by the State Highway Department. "Their engineers (the 'highway department') knew what they were doing."

Asked if there were other roads paved during his administration where a road hadn't existed before, Ward replied: "I don't think so . . . there may have been . . . but what if there weren't?"

"You fellows are just trying to dig up something to smear Cobb County and my administration," he added before refusing to answer any further questions. "There was nothing wrong about it."

Study Red Education, Griffin Says

By ALLAN HEAD

Georgia educators would do well to study Soviet programs of foreign languages and science training, Gov. Griffin said Thursday.

The governor's comment came in remarks to the Georgia Nuclear Advisory Commission, immediately preceding ground breaking ceremonies for a $600,000 radioisotope and bioengineering lab at Georgia Tech.

The commission had just read a report comparing Georgia high school science programs with those in the USSR, and had adopted the report's recommendations.

FAR BELOW RUSSIA

The report shows Georgia lagging far behind the USSR in both science and foreign language instruction.

Griffin noted the Soviet system screens students at the seventh grade for assignment to vocational or semi-professional schools.

"I believe strongly in trade schools," he said. "I believe strongly in vocational schools . . . We need to push this testing program—not every student can become a scientist."

"LEFT TO CHILD"

Griffin criticized the fact that few basic science and language courses are required in Georgia schools. The problem of what education a child is to have, he added, "apparently has been left to the child."

Parents can demand more compulsory education for their tax dollars, he said.

The governor warned not all

GM Closing Plant Here For a Week

The Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plant at Doraville will be closed next week for what General Motors officials called "an adjustment of operating schedule."

About 2,000 hourly workers will be laid off for the week beginning Monday. Nine hundred salaried, supervisory and maintenance employees will continue on the payroll, a spokesman here said.

The shutdown apparently is designed to cut back production to requirements of the new car market.

Other B-O-P plants to shut down are at Arlington, Tex.; Linden, N.J.; Kansas City, and Wilmington, Del.

Political Notebook Is Gowen Running? Supporters Worried

By WILLIAM M. BATES
Constitution Political Editor

State Rep. Charles L. Gowen's absence from the county commissioners' meeting in Savannah this week has raised questions about his intention of running for lieutenant governor.

There is, in fact, considerable speculation in political circles that the Glynn County legislator has cooled off considerably about making the race.

Gowen's failure to attend the commissioners' meeting, usually considered a mecca for hopeful politicians, particularly in an election year, is by no means a sure sign that he does not plan to run. But it does indicate that at this time, anyway, Gowen is

Vandal Tosses In Apology and Dollar

ROME, Ga. (AP)—A Rome man called police to catch vandals who broke a window in his half-finished home. City Detective W. B. Terhune investigated. Nearby he found a rock around which was wrapped a dollar bill and the following note: "Dear Sir: By accident I broke a window here. Here is a dollar bill that I hope will pay for it. I am very sorry."

Point Blank Shot Misses Wife Here

By KEELER MCCARTNEY

An Atlantan late Thursday fired a pistol point-blank at his estranged wife and missed, then critically wounded himself, police said.

John Daniel Martin Sr., 37, was admitted to Grady Hospital with a bullet wound in the head, Lt. G. H. Christian and Detective W. S. Acree said.

Martin's wife, Mrs. Nellie Martin, who police said dodged just as the bullet was fired, was quoted as saying: "God was with me."

4 BOYS

The Martins' four boys, ranging in age from 8 through 15, were present when the incident occurred at the home of Mrs. Martin's mother, Mrs. Nannie McDuffie, at 415 Richards St., NW, officers said. Mrs. McDuffie also witnessed the shooting.

Officers said Mrs. Martin told them her husband, from whom she had been separated for three weeks, appeared at the door and they talked for several minutes. Mrs. Martin was quoted as saying her husband pulled a pistol and fired. She said she dodged, although she felt the cartridge was a blank.

No Survivors In Air Force Transports

BRIDGEPORT, Tex. (AP)—Two huge Air Force transport planes—a C124 Globemaster and a C119 Flying Boxcar—collided above Bridgeport Thursday and carried 18 persons to their deaths.

Both planes crashed and none on board survived. The Texas Department of Public Safety said a total of 18 was known dead—15 from the C124, which burned, and three from the C119.

The C119 hesitated a second, when the planes came together, then plunged straight down and crashed 100 yards from a farmer who was plowing his field. The pilot of the C124 tried desperately to pull up, but his plane also crashed on the lip of a ravine, where it blew up and burned.

EN ROUTE TO FT. WORTH

The two-engine C119 was en route from Sheppard Air Force Base at Wichita Falls, Texas, to Carswell Air Force Base, near Fort Worth.

The C124, a four-engine plane, was from Hill Air Force Base, Utah, en route to Tinker Air Force Base at Oklahoma City. It had stopped at Kelly Air Force Base, San Antonio, before continuing north.

P. L. Hill, a 45-year-old contractor, saw the planes collide, while he and his 20-year-old son, Rex, were standing on the front porch of their home.

"My son said, 'Look, dad, those planes are going to hit,'" Hill said. "I looked up and saw the two-engine plane, flying north, hit just back of a wing on the other plane."

STRAIGHT DOWN

"The two-engine plane hung in the air motionless a second and went almost straight down. The pilot revved up the engines on the other plane and got it up a little. I thought the pilot was going to make it, but it also went down."

Jobless Several Times Over and Banking $1,000 a Month in Relief Pay, He's Jailed

NEW YORK (AP)—A 49-year-old man, said to be banking $1,000 a month in unemployment pay, was jailed Thursday.

Chief investigator Louis Sitkin of the State Labor Department called the man, Michael Kane, "the most flagrant violator in the history of the department."

In Felony Court, Kane was held without bail for the grand jury. He was arrested Wednesday at an unemployment compensation office.

Sitkin said Kane held numerous Social Security cards under different names and held down two jobs at a time for just long enough to qualify for jobless pay. Then he quit, drew compensation and got himself two more jobs, repeating this in a pyramiding pattern.

Kane served 7½ years in Sing Sing Prison for a World War II jobless pay racket. It was based on names from obituary columns, which Kane used to collect $3,000 in benefits.

Serious Unemployment In Half of Labor Centers

Slight Pickup in Jobs by May Indicated in Government Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Labor Thursday designated nearly half of the nation's 149 major industrial centers as areas of "substantial" unemployment with at least 6 per cent of the labor force out of work.

The department also said that hiring plans of employers indicated only a slight pickup in jobs between now and the middle of May. It said anticipated increases were "considerably smaller than last year" and were concentrated in non-manufacturing businesses.

Heavy manufacturing plants expect "few significant changes" over the next two months, it said. There may be "some additional losses" in jobs in several auto and aircraft centers.

BI-MONTHLY SURVEY

The department made the statements in a report on its bi-monthly survey of employment conditions in the 149 big industrial centers. It labelled 70 of the centers as "distressed areas" with 6 per cent or more of the work force unemployed.

It was an increase of 25 areas since January. There were 19 areas in the "distressed" category in March a year ago.

Baltimore, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Indianapolis and Buffalo were among cities added to the list in March.

SMALL CENTERS INCREASE

The department designated 32 smaller industrial centers as areas of "substantial" unemployment, bringing to 121 the total of smaller cities in that classification. This compared with 72 in January and 59 in March of 1957.

Classification as a "labor surplus" area means that a city is entitled to preference in awarding of government contracts. The Defense Department has said it will channel military contracts to these areas.

Georgia, including Atlanta, Augusta and Columbus, remained in the moderate labor surplus category, which includes unemployment ranging from 3 to 5.9 per cent. Georgia had 5.8 per cent Feb. 15.

The labor surplus category is broken down into sub categories with "D" representing from 6 to 9 per cent unemployment; "E" from 9 to 12 per cent jobless and "F" with 12 per cent or more of the labor force out of work.

CATEGORY 'D'

The areas placed in category "D" included Baltimore; Syracuse, N.Y.; Toledo, Ohio; Reading, Pa.; York, Pa.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Beaumont - Port Arthur, Tex.; Corpus Christi, Tex., and Fort Worth, Tex.

Two cities — Flint, Mich., and Buffalo — were placed in category "E."

The following cities were included in the list of those who moved from "D" to "E": Utica-Rome, N.Y.; Lorain - Elyria and Youngstown, Ohio; Johnstown, Pa.; Knoxville, Tenn.; Charleston, W. Va.; Huntington - Ashland, W. Va.-Ky.; Wheeling - Steubenville, W. Va.-Ohio.

Those placed in category "F" beside Detroit were Altoona, Scranton and Wilkes-Barre-Hazleton, Pa., and Providence, R.I. They had 12 per cent or more unemployment.

Trade Curbs Peril Jobs, Ike Warns

Reciprocal Setup Gives Work To 4.5 Million, Congress Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower warned Congress Thursday night against endangering the jobs of 4,500,000 Americans by "blindly" crippling his embattled reciprocal trade program.

Denouncing "economic isolationism," the President said that the trade program was "good for America" because it helped create jobs, strengthened the nation's economy, and promoted peace throughout the world.

His speech climaxed a daylong "show of strength" conference attended by some 1,500 of the nation's leaders to marshal support for the administration's trade request to Congress.

Preceding the Chief Executive to the speaker's rostrum were Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, speaker Sam Rayburn and a host of other Democratic and Republican figures in and out of government.

Stevenson, battling for the Democratic - born program, said failure to extend it would weaken Western alliances, hurt U.S. world leadership, and push the world's underdeveloped nations into the arms of the Communists.

The President has asked Congress for a five-year extension of his authority to enter into trade agreements, plus power to cut present import tariffs up to 25 per cent.

The President directly linked the trade program to government efforts to end the business recession. He said that last year world trade amounted to 100 billion dollars and made jobs for at least 4,500,000 Americans.

His Royal Romance Over, Townsend Says

LONDON (AP)—Peter Townsend insists his romance with Princess Margaret is still off.

A 29-word statement was issued Thursday by the war hero in an attempt to stem rumors that his love affair with the beautiful princess might yet have a fairy tale ending.

Townsend announced his position after being trailed through the streets by newsmen and sightseers.

Typists waved at him from office windows as he made a series of business calls.

Crowds gathered in the rain outside Clarence House, residence of the 27-year-old princess, in the hope that her rejected suitor might pay a second visit after their reunion Wednesday.

It was his second day back in Britain after 17 months traveling the world.

The statement was issued under his name by his attorney, Alan Philipotts.

"There are no grounds for supposing that my seeing Princess Margaret in any way alters the situation declared specifically in the princess' statement in the autumn of 1955," the statement said.

Margaret's announcement had said that she was putting duty before love.

Townsend, 43, divorced his wife in 1952. The Church of England frowns on remarriage of divorced persons.

Margaret is third in line for the throne and her sister, Queen Elizabeth II, as the sovereign is one of the heads of the Church.

Margaret had corresponded regularly with Townsend during his self-imposed exile. Townsend, a wartime group captain and an air attaché until he quit the air force, was reported to have sought Wednesday's meeting. He obviously could not have called without being invited.

The meeting brought an openly irritable reaction from advisers to Queen Elizabeth II, who just ended a state visit to Holland.

"It's just sheer perversity by both of them," said on British informant in Holland. "People are bound to think less of Townsend for barging into London when the Queen is away."

The Queen gave the impression to reporters in Holland that she was put out by the meeting of Margaret and Townsend.

Interest in Schools Is a Healthy Trend

Renewed and critical interest in public education in Georgia and throughout the nation is a heartening development. With such interest being shown, moves are bound to be made to correct deficiencies which have become increasingly evident.

Under heavy fire is the system of so-called "progressive" education, which critics give credit for softening of the curriculum with its great emphasis upon social adjustments at the expense of the academic program. They charge that a system which holds back the brighter student for the norm or average is weakening the whole structure of our society.

Recently the whole field has been under close scrutiny in Georgia from the academic program to discipline. The Legislature, the Georgia Education Assn., civic groups and the public in general are taking another look at our schools and their product. They are finding much of the criticism justified.

Latest group to come up with recommendations is the Georgia Nuclear Advisory Commission, which yesterday issued a report showing that science, math and other technical subjects are a hit-or-miss proposition. Where offered at all, and in most schools these subjects are optional, they fall far below the requirements in Russian schools.

While this country does not intend to out-Soviet the Soviets with its program of state-directed education to benefit the state's purposes, we have to face the fact that we are in a competitive race which will decide the future of the world. Outcome of this race very likely will be determined in the classrooms of this country.

The commission's recommendations imply there is much waste of talent and money in our schools. Many of our brighter students never get to college while others who might profit more from trade and technical schools of the junior college level do. There is too little reward for scholarship and too little encouragement of those who tomorrow should be filling places of leadership.

We heartily recommend the commission's study to all responsible Georgians—parents and all others concerned with the future of our state. We must put aside our complacency and go into action on every level to improve our standards while meeting the total need.

Watchdog Group Faces Increasing Work Load

Gov. Griffin, after ordering his department heads not to appear before the Senate investigating committee, now has given his word that he will take no reprisals against any state employees who might testify.

In fact, the implication that he would do so is ridiculous, the chief executive informed Chairman William Trotter. Then why doesn't he rescind the order? It seems the height of inconsistency to order an employee not to do something but adding in effect that his status would be unchanged if he violated the order.

Meanwhile, the committee failed to meet yesterday as scheduled. It apparently is awaiting an opinion from Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook as to whether it can employ assistants.

Although such personnel are needed badly, the senators soon must get on with the work that needs to be done—with or without paid help.

The list of things for the committee to look into grows longer with each passing day. The latest are the charges and countercharges between Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams and Jason Weems, who was among the 10 department officials recently fired by Mr. Williams.

Even though Mr. Williams as a Griffin-appointed department head is under orders not to testify, Mr. Weems is not and he gives every indication of being willing to give interesting testimony.

Congratulations in Order For Fort Valley Voters

Fort Valley, a splendid and progressive central Georgia city, has done a very sensible thing and elected two intelligent women to public office—the first in the history of Fort Valley and Peach County.

Mrs. Olivia Hall was elected to the city's important Light and Water Commission, which has control and regulation of all utilities, and Mrs. Frank Vinson was elected to the City Council. Evidence of the vote-getting prowess of these ladies and the appreciation the city has for them is the fact that Mrs. Vinson led the five council contestants with the most votes and Mrs. Hall was a close second in the list of four chosen for the utility commission.

The Atlanta Constitution congratulates

Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Vinson and, of course, the city of Fort Valley.

Irwin Rigdon was chosen mayor and his honor will not mind if we reserve him for last place, following the ladies, in congratulations and best wishes for a successful administration.

Khrushchev as Dictator Is a Greater Menace

Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev finally has emerged as undisputed top man in Russia. The news bears no comfort for the United States and the free world.

The shrewd Russian, who has reached the top over the deposed heads of his friends, must not be underestimated. A wily peasant, whose standard of morals can be judged by his methods of attaining power, he is a more shrewd adversary than was Joseph Stalin.

Khrushchev successfully has used Bulganin—whom he replaces—and the other top-post Stalin leaders in his march to power. He helped Malenkov destroy the hated Beria, thus opening the way for Malenkov to become premier. He then teamed up with Marshal Zhukov to banish Malenkov, later using the marshal to save his own neck.

Then in a skillful political coup last year, he sent Zhukov out of the country and in his absence ousted the marshal and removed his influence in the armed forces, replacing it with party control. He banished one of the shrewdest of the old Communists, Molotov, to Outer Mongolia.

Khrushchev is a gambler with an obsession that the Soviet Union is destined to rule the world. He has said so publicly on many occasions. He moved daringly into the Middle East, an area which Stalin and others had avoided as too risky. But today Russia is becoming the dominant power in this oil-rich region.

The picture of the smiling, vodka-drinking clown which Khrushchev has often presented to the West is as deceptive as the man himself.

Naming of Khrushchev as Stalin's successor means a continuation of the cold war and Russian aggression. It means continued tension and division in the world and an ever-present threat of hot war.

Outstanding Pharmacist Wins Deserved Honor

If there can be a newspaperman's newspaperman, as the phrase goes, then surely there can be a pharmacist's pharmacist.

Such an individual was honored last night by hundreds within his profession and by his friends.

He is Dr. Judson L. Hawk Sr., graduate of the Southern School of Pharmacy in 1912, long-time practicing pharmacist and owner of a drugstore on West Peachtree at 14th in Atlanta, friend of druggists and boys aspiring to be druggists, first chairman of the board of trustees at his alma mater and member of that board for 20 years.

The dinner last night, bringing to a close "Judson L. Hawk Day" in Atlanta, was a fine demonstration of appreciation from a profession and a community.

What must have pleased the honored guest most is that the chief beneficiary of the occasion was the Southern College of Pharmacy, which he has served loyally for 45 years.

Population in the latter half of the 20th century promises to go on increasing at an unprecedented rate. More people means a greater demand for health services, including the man at the drugstore who compounds the medicine the doctor orders.

We must maintain and strengthen the schools that train our pharmacists along with those which develop doctors, dentists, scientists and teachers.

Roland Hayes Hailed As Great Georgia Artist

Roland Hayes, one of Georgia's best-known and respected artists and persons, comes "home" tonight for a concert at Morehouse College.

Born at Curryville, Ga., Roland Hayes had a devoted mother who toiled to educate him. She lived to see him a success. Now 70, but still in magnificent voice, Roland Hayes is one of the few American singers to have had a command performance before King George V of Great Britain. Another such appearance was before the Queen Mother of Spain. He has sung with all the great orchestras of the world, and, of course, in all the capitals.

He often has toured the United States with the orchestras of New York, Boston and Philadelphia. Many awards and honors have come to him. He has remained always the sincere person and artist.

Roland Hayes has brought honor to himself and his country. The Constitution joins in welcoming him back to his native state.

Decaturite Plows Into Ezra Taft Benson As 'Great Exterminator' of Small Farmer

Decatur—When sound agrarian policies are deserted and our farmers are allowed to suffer as they have been doing since Brother Benson instituted his great philosophies we can expect nothing more than that which now engulfs our country—a depression.

He may be a great man riding a white charger and carrying a lance on a magnificent crusade to save, but to most of us in the South who spend any time reading and thinking about the problem he seems to be a deliberately misleading secretary of agriculture bent on destruction of any type of equality in farm income. In fact, insofar as the small farmer is concerned, rather than call him a great secretary I much prefer the term, The Great Exterminator.

Georgian Speaks Up For County Unit Vote

Broxton—I was born in Georgia almost 62 years ago and have been well pleased with our state as a whole ever since I was born. We have something better than the rest of the states—the county unit system—and I see no use in doing away with it.

I hate to think what will happen in Georgia if Bill Hartsfield wins his lawsuit to kill the unit system. The rural people would be no more than dogs as far as having any say-so whatsoever in governing ourselves.

Why don't you let us alone with our way of life and let's be good neighbors? You all get the largest end of the horn now.

W. C. TODD.

Jack Nelson Saluted For Courageous Job

Atlanta—I wish to extend a few bouquets of roses: First to The Atlanta Constitution for its crusade against corruption in state government and its desire to keep the people informed about where our tax money is really being spent. As loyal Georgians we are entitled to know what happens to our money when some services are not really rendered.

Secondly, a bouquet to Jack Nelson for his courage in exposing the Baxley road mess that has been going on under the present administration. It takes courage to speak the truth.

Thirdly, a bouquet to Mayor Hartsfield for his fine letter in Pulse of the Public about the corrupt county unit system. That is truly taxation without representation. Shall we continue to stand it or do something about it at the polls? We do need to be aroused from our lethargy on what is going on in our beloved State of Georgia.

All Join Hands, Swing Caesar

Speaking of high school literature, as I was earlier in the conversation, the report has come in on a class studying Caesar.

Not Sid, but Julius C., by W. Shakespeare. It seems this class got hep a d worked out a set of song titles that might have been the Top Ten along the Tiber. They included The Scroll, Be Bop Brutus, Rubicon Romance, Rock Around Rome and See Ya' Later, Gladiator (After While, On the Nile).

As for a topical fashion note, there was of course the sack of Rome. "And a sad sack it was," says Morgan Thomas.

TEEN TALK suggests the younger set and just any parent or set of parents can feel for the Wisconsin father, a teacher by the way, who arose early on a recent morning to surprise his family with hot oatmeal for breakfast.

As he was dishing up a bowl for son Jimmy, age 3, Jimmy walked into the kitchen. From then on the conversation, as reported by a Milwaukee Journal columnist, went like this:

"Want honey on it?"
"Yes, Jimmy said."
"And milk?"
"Yes."
"Butter in it, too?"
"Yes."

The father gave the bowl to Jimmy. The youngster stared at it for a while, then pushed it away.

"You've got everything you want in it," his dad said. "Why don't you eat it?"
"I don't like oatmeal," said Jimmy.

BEST SELLER: So many have called or written about "Barriers Burned Away" I may have to read the book myself. Mrs. Fred Beer, Sr. of College Park remembers "BBA" some 60 years ago as the first "grown-up" book her mother let her read. She thrilled, she says, "to the story of frustrated love against a background of a flaming city." And she suspects now the novel was "pale and innocuous, befitting, the era."

Lewis Beck of Griffin says it sold 90,000 copies in 1972. "Barriers Burned Away" will have to wait, though, until I read "The Malignant Heart." That's the thriller by office neighbor Celestine Sibley. It'll be available next week.

Dulles Stands Like Rock of Gibraltar

WASHINGTON—I am glad to have this opportunity to pinch hit for one of America's best-known columnists, Tom Stokes. I have always had respect for his integrity, although frequently we are at opposite poles in our thinking on current issues.

We have had to have strong leaders to guide us during the growth of our nation. Courage and determination are, therefore, among the most priceless qualities of our heritage and of those who serve our country. These qualities have very much distinguished our present secretary of state.

The primary duty of a secretary of state is to advance the interests of our country around the world, protect American citizens and their interests in other countries and to do his utmost to keep peace. Secretary John Foster Dulles has done just that.

He has always worked primarily to promote the security of the United States and the cause of peace. He has indeed devoted his entire life to advancing the interests of our nation in international affairs.

But whether we agree with Dulles' policies or not, I think all of us must agree on one thing—he has been determined in his beliefs, steadfast in his devotion to America's peaceful objectives.

He has been attacked here at home by those who disagree with his handling of our international problems. At one time he was sharply criticized for his statements that our nation was on the brink of war; yet at the same time he is criticized for "giving way" in the face of the Communist aggression.

His steadfastness in the face of bitter attacks has repeatedly paid off in advancing United States' interests throughout the world. He stood fast when the last strong hold of Nationalist China stood in the shadow of the Communist tyrant—Formosa was saved. His firmness in the face of the crises in Viet Nam and the Middle East has proved to be insurmountable to the Communists.

These characteristics of Dulles have been particularly manifest in his stand on the Russian urge for a summit meeting. He has been firm in his insistence that all preparatory steps must be concluded before any such conference is held.

He and the President want to insure that a summit conference has a chance for real progress toward the achievement of world peace and that it is not merely a spectacular vehicle for Communist propaganda. At the same time we certainly will not close any avenue, no matter how difficult the task may be, to achieve world peace.

Since the retirement of Winston Churchill, Dulles has become the No. 1 target of Communist attacks.

This is a tribute to his courage and to his effectiveness as a negotiator with the Russians during the past decade; his only sin is his dedication to America and the principles we stand for. For this I commend him; he deserves the support of all Americans.

Man-Worshippers Use Shaky Logic

A few days ago I participated in an informal discussion on the subject of religion. Various persons told what their religion means to them. One in the group said, "My religion is humanity and I worship mankind." There was a considerable stir in the group before another man prodded him with a few questions.

"Do you think man is worthy of worship?" he was asked.

He replied, "Yes, man only is worthy of worship."

A second question was asked: "If man is your god, then ask how to that which represents little more than yourself, don't you?"

Are you much better than the primitive who cuts down a tree, carves an image from one of the branches, and then falls down to worship it?"

Well, the man-worshiper gave no ground and even nodded affirmatively when he was asked if actually he wasn't worshipping himself.

I guess that his devotion to man centers in what he considers to be mankind's finest expressions of nobility and what he considers to be mankind's greatest potentials. Yet the question which remained in my mind was whether man is worthy of worship.

The Bible tells us that we have been fashioned in the image of God and that we are a little lower er than the angels. But nowhere in the Bible or in human experience do we find any evidence that man is divine or worthy of worship.

There are evidences of human greatness and by these we are inspired, but that greatness is not without blemishes.

If you question my thoughts, and I know that there are sincere men who do, may I call your attention during this period of Lent to the tragic episode that took place just beyond the walls of Jerusalem. There long ago the Man Christ Jesus was hung upon a cross. Whatever else Calvary may mean to you, it surely must portray for you the evil that resides in the depths of the human heart. There on the cross hung Him in whom men have seen the light and life of God, but beneath His cross stood evil personified in human hatred, bitterness and malice.

How can a man stand by that cross without seriously questioning his illusions concerning the goodness of man?

Will House Probe Be a Whitewash?

WASHINGTON—It is increasingly evident that the House committee investigating the FCC is not going to investigate the senators and congressmen who have brought pressure upon the regulatory agencies unless public opinion makes it too hot to cover up.

Rep. Charles A. Wolcott (R-N.J.), a member of the committee who has deplored "pressure tactics" all over the place whenever he saw others using it, screamed foul ball when a witness, attorney Paul Porter, produced a letter which Wolcott had written to the Federal Communications Commission five years ago asking for a quick decision on a constituent's application for a Camden TV station.

Porter started to develop his argument that his own client, Col. Frank Katzenine—who failed to get the controversial channel 10 in Miami—had done nothing improper in seeking to pressure the commissioners since Rep. Wolcott had acted similarly in trying to persuade the FCC to make a "quickie grant."

Whereupon the chairman of this now-we-investigate-and-now-we-don't committee, Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), intervened to shield his fellow congressman, and shut off Porter with the curt judgment that Rep. Wolcott had committed "no impropriety."

Chairman Harris then banged his gavel in a way which said: "We've heard enough of that" and announced abruptly: "Hearing adjourned."

This leaves two unanswered questions which will haunt this congressional committee to its dying day—rigor mortis already seems to be gripping the investigation at numerous points—unless they are candidly faced and answered:

1. If Speaker Sam Rayburn won't let the House committee investigate the senators, what can be done to get at the facts?

2. What is "improper pressure" on the commissioners of the regulatory agencies which are supposed to be "independent"?

There are two ways the senators can be quizzed. One is for the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee to undertake its own investigation of the regulatory agencies independently of the House. The other way is for the Senate and House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committees to undertake a joint investigation, carrying forward the work already under way. This would make it appropriate, within the fraternal rules of Congress, to call senators as witnesses and, if the proper senators were assigned to the joint committee, it might inject new vigor into the investigation.

What is improper pressure? Is it improper for a private citizen to buttonhole and badger the commissioners, outside the commission hearings, but proper for a senator or congressman to do the same?

I don't see how Rep. Harris' committee can have the confidence of the country if it continues to stop short of investigating the pressure-tactics of senators and congressmen.

No Kremlin Upheaval Foreseen in Washington

Khrushchev Expected To Retain Basic Domestic and Foreign Policy

By JAY WALZ

WASHINGTON—U.S. reaction to Nikita S. Khrushchev's assumption of the Soviet premiership leaned heavily to the view that he felt a need to become leader in name as well as in fact.

However, there was no evidence readily apparent to officials that the move for broader authority by the first secretary of the Soviet Communist Party meant significant changes in Soviet foreign or domestic policy.

Official comment by the State department noted that the development returned Russia to one-man control of government in Moscow for the first time since the death of Marshal Stalin in 1953.

NO CONCLUSIONS

But the statement suggested no conclusions to be drawn from this fact. It went on to say that the development "clarified" Khrushchev's standing at future meetings of heads of government.

In the past, he has been recognized as the "real spokesman" for the foreign and domestic policies of the Soviet Union. But, as one official put it, with only the title of Community Party secretary, he was actually an "interloper" at any meeting at the summit.

Now, he will be the man with whom President Eisenhower, for example, must deal directly in any negotiations with the Russians.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) expressed this thought in lighter vein with the remark:

VISIBLE SIGNS

For several months one of the few visible signs of former Premier Bulganin's exercise of power has been letters over his signature to Eisenhower and other heads of government. The letters have contained proposals and counterproposals on the subjects of disarmament and atomic weapon controls.

There was widespread belief that Khrushchev was aiming at far more than the privilege of signing letters. But what his prime impulse might be was not clearly defined.

There was general agreement that as party chief he had no trouble getting his views accepted. And there was considerable doubt that as premier he will have more "real power" than he held when Bulganin occupied that post.

POWER "LEGITIMATE"

However, some officials felt that the importance of making his exercise of power "legitimate" should not be discounted.

"There are practical advantages in driving a car to be in the drivers seat," said one official. Another observed that the "trappings of office"—signing letters, decrees and orders—have an accumulative effect in concentrating power in the hands of the office holder.

Bulganin, with all the "trappings," has not succeeded in taking the spotlight from the man whose position might be supposed to keep him a power behind the scenes. However, it is possible that another man in Bulganin's seat might use the power for purposes of personal ambition.

Finally, some felt it just possible that Khrushchev, after all these years as Communist chief without portfolio, might have entertained sufficient personal ambition to take over the "front office" himself.

The State department said the question remained "whether he (Khrushchev) will continue to function" as party first secretary. It noted that the Communist officials after Stalin's death had placed "emphasis" on collective leadership.

The Communists also started a campaign against the "cult of personality," and for many months the drive took the form of downgrading Stalin.

U.S. Cutter Halts Cuba Rebel Ship

Caught Off Texas

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A Coast Guard cutter early Thursday rammed and captured an 85-foot freighter taking an "expeditionary force" of New York Latins and a private arsenal to Cuba to join a rebellion against President Fulgencio Batista's army.

"They rammed it three times because it wouldn't stop," Customs Agent Tom Warner said. He said three Coast Guardsmen boarded it while it was still moving and the three customs agents later boarded. The rebels didn't resist beyond refusing to stop until rammed.

36 REBELS

All told, U.S. Coast Guardsmen captured 36 rebels in uniforms of U. S. green fatigues, with a gaudy armband, and one Panamanian and three Ecuadorians who were manning the boat, the Orion. All were charged with violating the Neutrality Act.

The arsenal, worth $20,000, according to the leader of the expedition, included two 60 mm. mortars, one .50-caliber machine-gun, four .30-caliber machine-guns, six or seven .45-caliber pistols, four M2 rifles, nine Springfield rifles and 15 or 17 M1 carbines, all U. S. issue.

PLENTY OF AMMUNITION

Customs agents said there was "plenty of ammunition" for all the weapons. The El Orion stood off the coast between Brownsville and Matamoros, Mexico, across the mouth of the Rio Grande. Wednesday night and the rebels loaded the guns and ammunition by using a rubber raft.

Democrats Urge Ike To Retain Props

WASHINGTON (AP)—Forty-two of the Senate's 49 Democratic senators appealed to President Eisenhower today to sign a bill providing for a one-year "freeze" of government farm price supports.

The Democrats signed a resolution sponsored by Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) and drafted by the Democratic Policy Committee in a last-ditch effort to head off the President's expected veto of the bill.

The only Democratic senators not signing were Anderson of New Mexico, Holland of Florida, Byrd of Virginia, Frear of Delaware, Lausche of Ohio, Pastor of Rhode Island and Robertson of Virginia.

The move came on the heels of a similar demand by 17 Republican senators two days ago at a meeting of the Senate GOP Policy committee.

The bill, now on the President's desk, would reverse Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's decision to reduce 1958 price supports on dairy products, wheat and feed grains. Benson has said the measure would mean "unjustifiably" high retail food prices.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, Friday, March 28, 1958 5

DESERTED IN FRANCE FOR HER

Yvette Appeals to Ike To Free GI-Father of 5

PARIS (AP)—A dark-haired French mother of five has appealed to President Eisenhower for clemency for her American sweetheart, who deserted the U.S. Army in 1944 to live with her.

U.S. Embassy officials said Thursday they received the plea of Yvette Beause among 43,000 letters that poured in the past two days.

All ask forgiveness for 37-year-old Wayne Powers of Chillicothe, Mo., now held in the U.S. Army stockade at Verdun on the desertion charge. In theory, the penalty could be death.

An embassy spokesman said Yvette had asked the President to let Powers come back to her—and the five children the GI fathered in 13 years of secluded life in the village of Mont d'Origny near the Belgian border.

"President Eisenhower should understand," the woman said, "after all, he is a grandfather."

Through the years Powers had stayed in the woman's house, venturing out only at night and taking care of the children by day while Yvette earned the family's living as a mill hand.

French police arrested Powers last Saturday. The villagers swear none of them tipped off the police, although they knew of his existence.

The story of the American, his girl and their children—all of whom have American names and speak English with a Midwestern accent—has made headlines in the French press.

The Saar radio station "Europe No. 1," appealed to its millions of listeners to say what they think of the case. The result: was the thousands of letters swamping the embassy.

In the eyes of the French, Powers has paid for his crime by remaining loyal to Yvette for so many years.

Yvette visited Powers in his stockade cell Thursday.

"I am sure things will work out," Powers later told newsmen. "I'll stay in France when I get out—with her and the kids."

He said he deserted the U.S. 1st Army when he became separated from his unit, a transport company.

Records of Livingston County, Mo., of which Chillicothe is the county seat, show that a Mrs. Ruth Powers obtained a divorce from a Wayne Powers in 1950 on nonsupport grounds. The records stated Powers' whereabouts were unknown.

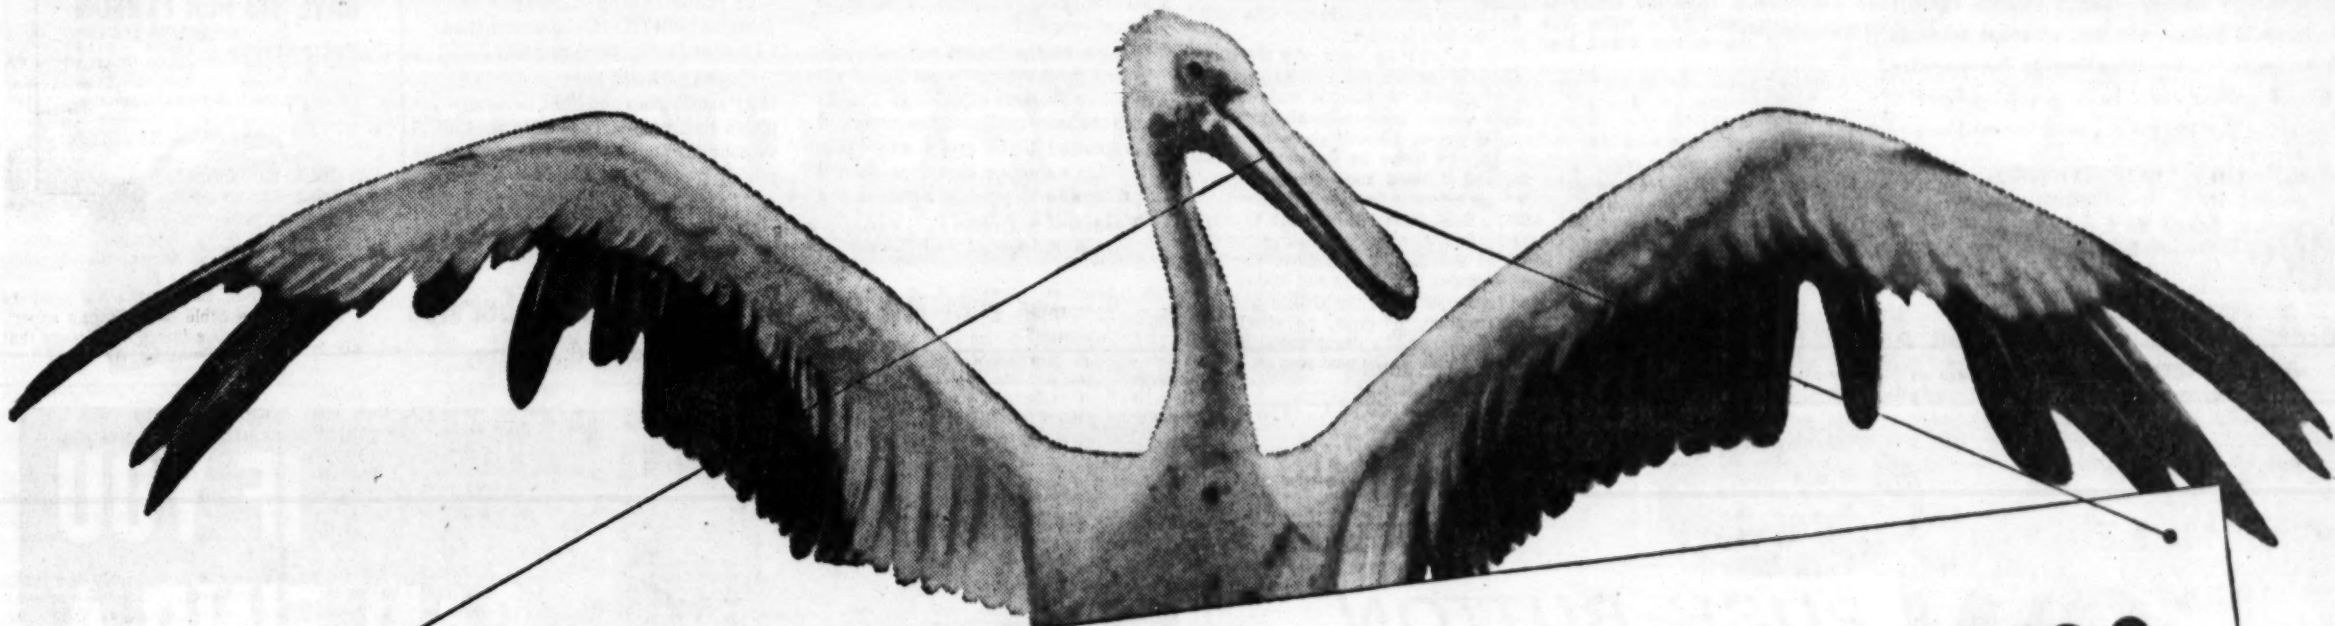

S. African Judge Bans British Crest

PRETORIA (AP)—South Africa's ties with British tradition loosened a bit more this week. Justice Minister C. R. Swart ordered the British coat of arms removed from all courts under him and replaced with South African insignia.

STATE ROAD TURNS SHARPLY AT REED LAND
Shaded Area Is Property Bought Before Road Was Built

that project . . . there's no dirt here."

The paving of this road was done in violation of the state's contract with Cobb County. The work was done by a Marietta contractor, C. W. Matthews. The contract stated:

"It is further expressly understood that the county shall perform all work under this contract by convict labor or county forces and not otherwise, and that this contract shall not be sublet or transferred to any other person, firm, or corporation."

This is a standard requirement of state-county contracts. Several months after the contractor paved Reed road, county crews went in and dug up a stretch down the center of the new road for a water line. As yet this section hasn't been repaved.

Deed records at the Cobb County courthouse indicate Reed bought the 160 acres of land just south of Smyrna on May 19, 1955. U.S. internal revenue stamps indicate Reed paid $22,000 for the tract or $137 an acre.

The first road contract with the state was signed Aug. 4, 1955. In 1956, Reed sold 10 acres of the land for about $200 an acre to the Cobb County Board of Education for a school site, Supt. W. P. Sprayberry said.

Sprayberry said he thought it was a bargain. He said Cobb County has paid as high as $1,000 an acre for school land.

The $149,000 school was built in 1957 and was opened this school year. It has an enrollment of about 350 children.

Asked why the school was located in a section that, at the time, had no houses nearby, Sprayberry said that it didn't matter. "None of our children walk to school in Cobb County . . . they all ride the school bus."

Deed records indicate Reed sold his 20-acre subdivision — King Spring Heights—to a C. E. Jones on Sept. 4, 1956. Revenue stamps indicate the price was some $300 an acre.

However, Reed told a Constitution reporter he is still the owner of the subdivision. He identified Jones as the contractor who built the houses there.

Asked if he knew why the state paid for the road, Reed replied: "I guess because it was needed . . . by the people all around."

However, he said there were no people living on the section now called Reed road before it was paved. Reed, who is also Cobb County attorney, has served three terms in the State Legislature. Capitol sources say he is not known as a supporter of the Griffin administration. However, he voted for the governor's unsuccessful Rural Road bill at the past session.

Professor Sentenced to 18 Months

Former Atlanta college professor Milton E. Kelley was ordered Thursday to serve sentences totaling 18 months on a charge of assault and battery against his former girl friend.

Kelley, who was convicted by a Fulton Superior Court jury Wednesday of the charge in connection with an injury Aug. 26, 1955, to Miss Donna Maxine Armstrong, later posted a $6,000 appeal bond.

William Hall, Kelley's defense attorney, filed a motion for a new trial and Judge E. E. Andrews set a hearing for 3:30 p.m. May 5 on the motion.

Brave Youths Nominations Open

Do you know some boy or girl under the age of 19 who has performed an act of bravery or a record of achievement during 1957?

If you do, give the youngster's name to Gov. Griffin so the youth can be considered for a Young American Medal for bravery or for service.

The nominations will be sent to the U.S. attorney general and are considered by the Young American Medals Committee. The names must be in before June 30.

Saturday Will Be 'Crippled Children's Day'

Saturday has been proclaimed Crippled Children's Day in Atlanta by Mayor William B. Hartsfield.

The spotlight will focus on handicapped persons as Atlanta joins the rest of the state and nation in setting aside the day before Palm Sunday to center attention on the needs of crippled children, and ways in which these needs can be met. Hundreds of youngsters throughout Georgia will benefit from this day, sponsored by the Georgia Society for Crippled Children and Adults in conjunction with its 1958 Easter Seal campaign which ends Easter Sunday, April 6.

Governor Marvin Griffin has issued a similar proclamation for the state, where observances will take the form of special radio and television programs and events for benefit of the crippled.

J. H. Darby Is Killed in Car Crash

James Harold Darby, 38, of 203 Glenn Dr., Forest Park, was killed Thursday when the car he was driving struck a bridge abutment near Lafayette, the State Patrol said.

Troopers said the car evidently went out of control and hit a bridge on U.S. 27 four and a half miles south of Lafayette in Walker County.

Mr. Darby, born in Covington, had lived in the Atlanta area about nine years. He was a salesman for the Evans Implement Co. He was a member of Forest Park Lodge No. 399 F&AM.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Friendship Baptist Church, Paulding County. Elder G. J. Davis will officiate. Burial will be in the churchyard.

Surviving are his wife, the former Pauline Camp of Villa Rica; a daughter, Miss Iris Lorraine Darby, and a son, Larry Darby, both of Forest Park; parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Darby, Covington; four sisters, Mrs. J. B. Sproull Jr., Stilesboro; Mrs. Lorraine Chambers, Porterdale; Mrs. Thomas McKeon, Tampa, Fla.; and Mrs. James H. McDowell, Dallas, and two brothers, Wallace Darby, Cedartown, and Robert Darby, Thomaston.

Miss Sanders, Retired School Teacher, Dies

Miss Margaret E. Sanders, retired Atlanta schoolteacher, died unexpectedly Thursday morning. Her home was at 206 E. Virginia Ave., College Park.

Born near Musella, Miss Sanders retired several years ago after 25 years' service with the Atlanta system. She taught in Fulton County schools before moving to the city system, where she last served at the Joel Chandler Harris School. She was a member of the Park Street Methodist Church.

Graveside services will be held at 11:30 a.m. Friday in the Cullen City Cemetery. The Rev. Floyd Freely will officiate.

Surviving are her mother, Mrs. H. F. Sanders, Atlanta, and two brothers, Earl Sanders, Decatur, and H. F. Sanders, Pasadena, California.

J. B. Strickland Dies; Nahunta Ex-Legislator

Constitution State News Service
NAHUNTA — Joseph Barney Strickland, 72, local businessman and former Brantley County representative and state senator, died Thursday in Waycross.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Cecil F. Thomas will officiate and burial will be in Oakland Cemetery at Waycross.

Mr. Strickland was a native of Wayne County. He was elected as Brantley representative when the county was formed and served four terms. He served as state senator for one term.

Mr. Strickland served 20 years on the board of county commissioners, part of that time as chairman.

Mrs. McDonald Services Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Homer McDonald, 82, retired Fulton County school teacher, will be at 11:30 a.m. Friday at Spring Hill. Dr. Nat G. Long will officiate. Burial will be in Crest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mrs. McDonald died Wednesday in a private hospital. She was the widow of Atlanta city waterworks engineer, Homer McDonald.

Notebook Is Gowen Still Intent On Race?

considerably less positive than when he announced his intention to run on the day after the Legislature adjourned. Most observers believe that if he intends to run he should be working at it hard—now.

The other two active candidates for lieutenant governor—former Rep. Garland T. Byrd of Taylor County and Rep. A. A. Fowler Jr. of Douglas County—are hard at work.

Both Fowler and Byrd attended the commissioners' convention, lining up support. Byrd, it is generally conceded, continues to be the front runner. The Butler attorney has the nucleus of a campaign organization left over from his race for agriculture commissioner in 1954. He seems to be amply financed.

Most important, the word is going around Byrd has the blessings of Sen. Talmadge. He's an executive in Talmadge's insurance company.

Fowler says he was encouraged at the commissioners' convention. He is well liked in political circles but is not so well known as Byrd or Gowen.

Others watching the race are Sen. Peyton Hawes of Elberton and Rep. W. Colbert Hawkins of Screven County, Griffin's legislative leaders.

It is also possible that the Griffin administration may back a candidate in the lieutenant governor's race—possibly Gov. Griffin himself.

Fulton Faces Tax Boost For Grady

is chairman, L. L. Gellerstedt, vice-chairman; Frank Wilson, secretary-treasurer; and Fred M. Walker, assistant secretary-treasurer.

The authority set up a fund of $1,000,000 out of its depreciation account and other funds to be used in remodeling old Grady into a modern nurses home, if practical. It also asked that the Gray Clinic building be studied as a possible Negro nurses home.

The authority will hire an architect and engineer to make a survey of old Grady to determine the cost and practicability of conversion.

A total of $45,000 was authorized for work on doctors quarters in the Gray Clinic and old Grady and in the contagious clinic to make them temporarily suitable for housing student nurses.

The authority also passed a resolution permitting "internship" of two graduate ministerial students to assist the chaplain at Grady.

The authority approved the appointment of Dr. Bernard L. Hallman, assistant professor of medicine of Emory's medical school, as director of professional services at Grady. It also approved the appointment of Dr. Charles A. LeMaistre, professor of preventive medicine and community health, as coordinator of clinics.

Both appointments are part of a supplemental agreement between Grady and Emory which was signed Thursday.

Red Chief Takes Over As Premier

with one eye on the projected East-West summit conference.

Khrushchev will now face President Eisenhower and other Western leaders across the table as the supreme exponent of Soviet power.

COMES AS SURPRISE

The removal of Bulganin, tipped by his absence from recent Moscow functions, had been expected by Western diplomatic circles in Moscow, but the Khrushchev take-over came as a surprise.

It had been speculated that one of Khrushchev's young proteges, possibly Alexi Kirichenko or Frol Kozlov, might get the premiership.

No new post was announced for Bulganin. Speculation that he might step upstairs into the figurehead presidency was blasted when the parliament re-elected President Kliment Voroshilov.

(In Washington, U.S. officials said that Khrushchev's grab of the premiership gave him a "terrific concentration of power" that could be dangerous for the West. It was expected to spark a new Soviet drive for a summit conference.)

FORMAL RESIGNATION

Bulganin, who had been premier since February, 1955, formally submitted his resignation in a declaration read for him by P. A. Lobanov, speaker of the Upper House.

Such a move is usually a formality. But instead of Bulganin being proposed for renomination, Khrushchev's name was put forward by President Voroshilov.

Costumed peasants, factory directors and worker delegates roared their unanimous approval in the chandelier-lit Kremlin chamber, once the throne room of Russia's czars.

At first the 1,378 newly-elected deputies gasped when Voroshilov nominated Khrushchev to succeed Bulganin. But then they stood up and cheered. They gave unanimous approval to the move with a show-of-hands vote.

SIGN OF VICTORY

On the government front bench, Khrushchev rose and acknowledged the ovation by clapping his hands above his head in a boxer's sign of victory.

The 77-year-old Voroshilov, referring to the Communist chief as "dear Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev," lauded his "outstanding role, his creative endeavor and talent and his inexhaustible energy and untiring work" over a period of 40 years.

He also recalled Khrushchev's victory last year over the Molotov-Malenkov-Kaganovich "anti-party group." "The party removed this group and is marching forward more resolutely," Voroshilov said.

After unanimous approval of his nomination, Khrushchev stepped to the microphone, then cleared his throat and began to speak.

GREAT HONOR

"By your decision you have just expressed great confidence in me and have done me great honor," Khrushchev said.

Khrushchev then got straight down to business with a long report on machine tractor stations, lasting three hours, after which the Supreme Soviet adjourned until tomorrow morning when the two houses will meet in separate sessions.

Study Soviet Schools, Griffin Asks

Soviet educational practices are appropriate for use in a democracy, but added, "Some of them we would do well to study."

In accord with one of the report recommendations, Griffin promised to call a Governor's Conference on basic science education needs.

It will be convened "as soon as we can get together and work up a list of names," he said.

Speaking at ground breaking ceremonies later, the governor termed the proposed building "a symbol of Georgia's new atomic age."

He said the laboratory and the atomic research reactor, "for which we will break ground within the year," will give Tech "the finest center for research and education in nuclear science to be found in any university in the world."

Griffin added, "More and more emphasis is being placed upon the various sciences, making it mandatory that our youth be well prepared in this vital field."

Course comparisons detailed in the commission report, prepared by the manpower and education committee, apply to Soviet "complete secondary" schools—equivalent to our schools here.

The comparison shows: Algebra—Russia: five years required, age 12-16. Georgia: two years optional, age 14-15; available in 324 of 528 schools.

Geometry—Russia: five years required, age 12-16. Georgia: two years optional, age 16-17; available in 430 of 528 schools.

Physics—Russia: five years required, age 12-16. Georgia: two years optional, age 16-17; available in 391 of 528 schools.

Chemistry—Russia: four years required, age 13-16. Georgia: two years optional, age 16-17; available in 463 of 528 schools.

Biology—Russia: six years required, age 10-15. Georgia: two years optional, age 15-16; available in 516 of 528 schools.

tion, Inc., in its regular Jupiter missile. It could be used in the modified launching equipment.

The Thor-Vanguard system for the Air Force attempts apparently will involve the North American engine used in the Thor intermediate-range ballistic missile, plus the thrust of the Navy's Vanguard rocket in the second stage, with a third stage—probably solid fuel to push final acceleration to 25,000 m.p.h.

The Navy's Ordnance Test Station, at China Lake, Calif., was ordered to perfect a mechanical ground scanning system for use in the lunar probe vehicles. A defense spokesman said this presumably would be a "primitive TV" piece of equipment capable of recording and reporting the topography of the moon.

sublet contracts totaling $125,000 to himself.

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, who is conducting a separate investigation of the Baxley charges, had said Wednesday Leftwich was expected to make his report to the Highway Board Friday.

Meanwhile, Sen. William P. Trotter of LaGrange, chairman of the Senate "watchdog" committee, announced his group would not look into the alleged Baxley irregularities since Cook is making an investigation.

Trotter pointed out Cook has subpoena powers while the Senate committee does not. He said the committee will be "interested in the results."

Trotter announced the next meeting of his committee has been scheduled for next Thursday. A session originally set for this Thursday was postponed because several members were tied up with private affairs.

Ike Orders Cutback of Oil Imports

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday ordered a 15 per cent reduction in the oil imports of companies which have been bringing foreign crude oil into the country.

The reduction, effective April 1, is part of the government's voluntary crude oil import program. The cut applies only to importers from the Rocky Mountains eastward and primarily affects oil from Venezuela and the Middle East.

Eisenhower tightened up the program by directing the military services and other government agencies not to buy oil from companies which do not comply with the voluntary program of company quotas.

His action pleased some spokesmen for the U.S. oil industry except that a number of them wanted more to be done—including the establishment of a mandatory rather than voluntary system of control.

Sen. Johnson (D-Tex.) called the order "welcome news" but expressed regret that Eisenhower did not apply mandatory controls.

Under the Eisenhower order, total imports in the area east of the Rockies are to be reduced from a daily average of 771,400 barrels to 713,000.

40 Spared As Crippled Plane Lands

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Braniff Eastern Air Lines plane with 40 passengers aboard circled National Airport for more than two hours with landing gear trouble Thursday night before making a safe landing on a rain-slicked runway.

Passengers and crew went through full emergency procedure for the landing which turned out to be "perfect," according to airport spokesmen.

All the passengers and crew members reported there was calm and no excitement at all aboard the plane which was en route from Washington to New York City when the landing gear difficulty was reported.

The plane was a Braniff aircraft, piloted by Capt. J. B. Thompson of Miami, Fla., with an Eastern Airlines crew of four others. The flight originated in Buenos Aires. The Eastern Airlines crew boarded the plane in Miami for the interchange flight to Washington.

Carl Sandburg Is Honored by North Carolina

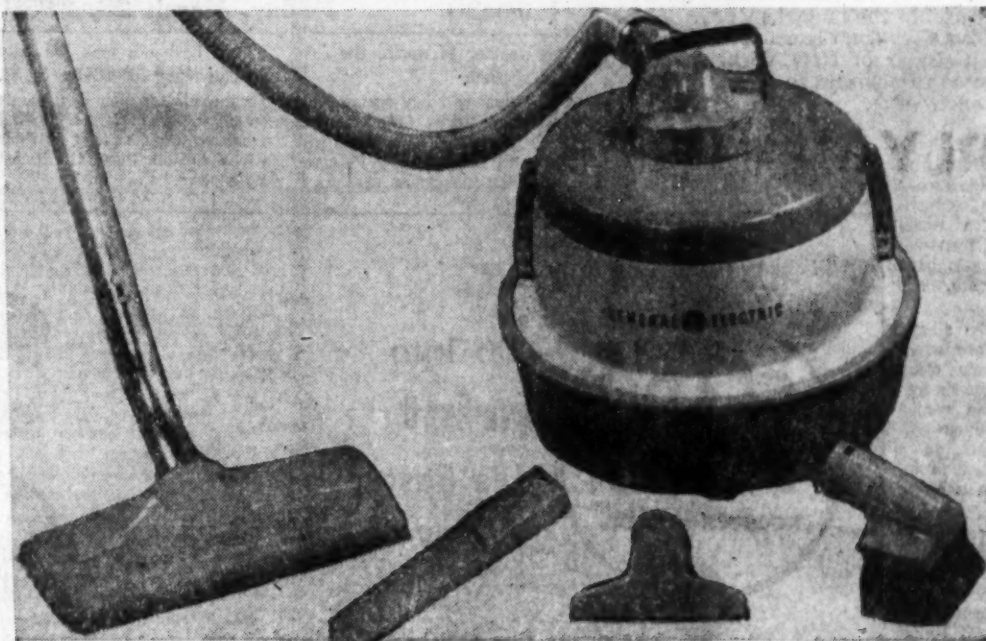

RALEIGH, N.C., (AP)—More than 200 North Carolinians paid tribute today to Carl Sandburg, poet, biographer, singer of songs and teller of tales.

Gov. Luther H. Hodges appointed Sandburg an ambassador of good will for North Carolina. State Treasurer Edwin M. Gill termed Sandburg "an original." Others spoke of the noted man with affection at a huge luncheon in his honor. At one point the tall, lean, white-haired, 80-year-old Sandburg turned his eyes on the speaker and begged, "Now don't make me cry."

By official proclamation of Gov. Hodges it was Carl Sandburg Day throughout the state. The luncheon here was the key observance in his honor.

'News' and Rock 'n' Roll Teach Retarded Children

By HARRIETTE SCHREIBER

Rock 'n' roll records are teaching some valuable lessons to students at Atlanta's school for the mentally retarded.

While "Who Wears Short Shorts" blares out over the record player, some of the students at Fairhaven School appear to be simply dancing and having fun.

But actually, as they pantomime the words, they are improving their speech, overcoming shyness and gaining better muscle coordination.

This training through records is only a small part of their education.

"TRAINABLE"

The majority of the students are classified as "trainable" and will be prepared eventually for work in the community. A few are "educable" and will be sent to special classes in the public school systems as soon as they are old enough or places can be found for them. The remainder of the 77 students at Fairhaven are children with more than one handicap.

The first tasks facing the staff of 10 include teaching the children ideas and concepts usually taken for granted.

For example, the mentally retarded child must be taught to play.

"SUPPLY INITIATIVE"

"A mentally retarded child will just sit, doing nothing," said W. R. Center, director of Fairhaven School. "But once you supply the initiative, he is happy and wants to do what you've shown him."

From this step, the child progresses to "take turns" playing, thus learning to get along with others.

Then he is taught to help others, as one teen-age boy did by helping his dancing partner shape her mouth to reply in the record pantomime "We Wear Short Shorts."

He also is taught manners and simple competitive games.

He must be shown his relation to his family group, his playmates and his community.

POSTERS

To begin this social knowledge, the children have posters showing members of the family and themselves in various snapshots.

"These posters help to bridge the gap between home and school life, too," added Mr. Center. "Often children are more relaxed in their home environment than in a new surrounding. And these posters help overcome the feeling of strangeness."

Later, the student will go on field trips to various institutions and industries.

"We try to show them what they will be up against when they go out into the world to live and work," said Mr. Center.

"BIG AND LITTLE"

The concept of "big and little" or "alike and different" or "tall and short" must be taught the mentally retarded child.

Gradually he will be taught to make letters, and then to recognize his name and the names of others in the class.

Among the higher reading classes, the morning work will begin with the "news." On a giant-sized tablet written in large print will be such facts about the pupil and his classmates as "Dorothy has on a new coat. It is raining hard outside."

Vocational skill is one of the most important phases of preparing the students for useful lives in their community.

From simple puzzles, the student progresses to woodwork, photography, ceramics and basket-weaving.

One of the school's big projects is wood-carved dog signs with house numbers painted on the signs. These signs are being sold by the students in the advanced group, the pre-vocational training students.

For the first time, members of the pre-vocational group will be placed in jobs soon with the help of the state vocational rehabilitation center.

Fairhaven School, supported by the Atlanta chapter of the Georgia Assn. for Retarded Children, this year moved into its first permanent home at 843 Springdale Rd.

Previously, in the four years the school has been in operation, the school was moved from place to place.

Male Taste Falls Short in Fashions

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK (U)—Blame women for men's lack of style and love of old clothes.

"Men buy fewer clothes because women go shopping first . . . and use up the budget money. And if men don't shop often, they don't learn about fashion," said Mrs. Sylvan Geismar of New York, one of 10 housewives appointed as advisors to a chain of men's wear stores (Broadstreet's).

Male interest in fashion also lags because men don't have the competition in dress that women do, she said. Men's wear should become more competitive, and the fashion world should try to educate men—not women, because the gals have a natural style sense, she added.

The firm set up the all-girl advisory board (all are wives of customers) to help other women turn their husbands into well-dressed men. The women will counsel the store on special services and act as a sounding board for fashion information geared to interest wives.

"More than 57 per cent of all men's suits and outer coat sales are made with women present. Women buy close to 75 per cent of all men's accessories and other furnishings," said Ralph Schiender, store president.

"That's because women are smarter about clothes than men. They know that a good impression begins and ends with the clothes on his back," Schneider added.

The firm conducted a survey of customers' wives to find out how women want their men to look. "Smart and conservative" was the answer. Only a few women prefer men to appear important, expensive or unusual.

"Men become defensive, self-conscious and unhappy when they're not dressed to conform. They don't have the female idea that fashion means something the weather is warm, the survey showed.

"Women will buy spring hats in a snow storm if the calendar says it's spring. But a man will wait till he can shop in comfort," the spokesman said.

Most husbands took the little woman along for advice on fit.

They made up their own minds on color, fabric and style, but admitted they relied on their wives to tell them the latest style news.

Praise Helpful To Dieter

By IDA JEAN KAIN

The wife of a senator walked into her husband's office and his secretary exclaimed: "Why, you're much thinner! I've never seen you look so well!" The dieter's response was a grateful, "Oh, thank you for noticing! I've lost 15 pounds and nobody has so much as mentioned it." This sincere compliment was a vitally needed morale booster.

Praise is sweet music, and can keep you on the slimming course enthusiastically. When a friend spontaneously remarks that you look years younger with less weight—why, you're walking on air!

FRIEND'S REACTION

It helps to know in advance how your friends and relations are likely to react to your reducing efforts. You may be sadly disappointed if you expect wholehearted praise from overweight friends. In fact, they may try indirectly to stop you from dieting. One reducer wrote recently: "My friends and neighbors are no help, particularly those who should be reducing. They just urge me to sit down and eat with them."

Psychologists explain it this way: the fact that you are dieting gives your overweight friends a feeling of guilt. If they are not ready to take the step and act to slim down, they may, perhaps unconsciously, resent the fact that you are dieting.

What you are looking for is a reward for your dieting efforts. You will, of course, be rewarded by seeing the difference on the scales, and the difference in the fit of your clothes—but this takes time.

BE WARY

In the meanwhile, it is well to be wary of even mentioning the word "diet" to anyone who is likely to try and discourage you from continuing toward your goal. A disparaging remark can take some of the steam out of your drive.

You may regard this in terms of diminished will power. Actually, it's merely that your friends or family have made diet seem less important. It's wise strategy to talk diet only with those who boost your enthusiasm!

A warning: Be prepared for the friend who is apt to remark that she liked you better with more weight. Respond by telling her how much more energy you have and how much happier you are with less weight. This soft answer may encourage her to try to do something about her own excess avoirdupois.

Colorful Hues to Adorn Nails For Fashionable Springtime

By RAYMONDE ALEXANDER

Spring is the season of color.

Trees burst into shades of green. Flowers raise their heads in every hue of the rainbow and the whole world glows as it comes out of its drab winter dress to sing with a new vibrancy.

Designers brush new fashions with colors freshly mixed for a new season. This spring they are making bold strokes with orange, yellow, red, with almost every color. The accent is on unusual blendings—pairing colors that are ordinarily thought of as incompatible.

The main objective seems to be to have color and lots of it. So it shouldn't startle anyone when everyone begins to dip their fingers in such shades as green, blue and purple.

JUST THREE

For those are just three of the unusual shades of nail enamel showing up on the most fashionable hands this spring.

It's a new enamel and not only does it come in those shocking colors, but in some 20 others as well, including Precious Pearl, Cupid's Blush, Choc-Touch, Indian Penny, Hot Chocolate, Capri, Heavenly Heather, Black Pearl, Honeydo and Mexicali.

Of course, some of the names don't give any clues as to what color they are but it's enough to know that purple, black, copper, blue and green is being considered for nail lacquer.

All of the shades are doubly enhanced by the addition of "Midastouch" over the shade originally used. This gives a personalized shade, adding a new golden beauty. Mexicali, Desert Rose, Monterey and Bermuda Blue especially take on a new depth and glow with this effect.

Because of the new method of making this polish, some shades are thinner than other polishes without detracting from its wearing qualities.

TIME SAVER

Too, a new shade may be brushed on right over another shade without removing the original shade. Another time-saver when a manicure is at a premium.

This particular nail polish not only offers untold colors but it is also quick and easy to apply. No base or top coat is needed. It dries quickly, saving busy women many precious minutes.

And it can be used down to the last drop in the bottle because it never dries out or becomes gummy. Because it retains its flexibility there is less nail-tip wear, less chipping and no peeling back in "sheets."

Petticoats Lined With Stardom

By BETTY CARROLLTON

Banjos and petticoats, sprinkled with stardom, are perfect accessories to complement this spring's best-dressed talent.

The talent—two lovely blondes and an equally appealing brunette—caught the attention of many of today's top performers, with whom they've shared top billing at the nation's niteries, including Frank Sinatra, Tony Martin, Guy Lombardo, Roger Williams and Charlie Spivak.

The Petticoats, a trio of charmers who plunk the banjo with gusto while retaining all the poise and grace of true Southern belles, have worked with many music world favorites. And the association has been one of mutual benefit.

The singing stars—sisters Mary and Bea House and Margie Hirth—have come a long way during the "almost two years" since the trio was formed, and their toehold on stardom has now become a firm grip.

The bright new group represents two families that years ago succumbed to the lure of the footlights. In Pittsburgh, the Hirths boasted their own sister trio, while in Louisville, three of the House girls heeded their parents' "pushing" to the professional limelight.

Both groups were winning recognition on their home grounds when they were split by Cupid's arrow: Two of the Hirth girls retired to become wives and mothers, and one of the House sisters shrank the trio to a duet when she got married.

In Pittsburgh, Margie Hirth continued singing as a "single" on TV and in supper clubs. Then the House Duet appeared on the same TV show with Margie in Pennsylvania and a new act was born.

"We got along beautifully," recalled Margie in Atlanta, where The Petticoats are one of numerous attractions Manager Lark Bragg is presenting in the Paradise Room's "Spring Festival of Stars."

"During our stay in Pittsburgh," added Mary, "we spent a lot of time together, discovered we had the same tastes—and decided to form our own trio."

Margie combed her family's closet for an old banjo "that had only two strings," but was a prized possession. Mary and Bea taught her to play, and two months later the girls won Arthur Godfrey's talent show contest and a two weeks' booking on his show. Other engagements soon followed, including a nationwide TV appearance with Guy Lombardo and his renowned Royal Canadians on New Year's eve. After a few days rest in New York following their appearance here, the Petticoats will join Lombardo for a four weeks' tour.

Margie strums her family relic like a veteran ("It hadn't been out of the closet in 20 years," Bea razed. "We wish it was back there!") and the trio's talent blends beautifully.

When they aren't traveling, the girls share an apartment in New York, and have established a system of evenly divided chores, although Margie is admittedly the best cook, and Mary the least talented in culinary arts. All three dread Mary's stint in the kitchen.

EVERY NIGHT

"I taught her to fix hash," Bea said, "and we had it every night the whole week she was cook."

"I've learned to fix other dishes now," Mary offered in her own defense. "Particularly spaghetti and ham and cabbage."

"Well, I can!" she insisted, noting the doubtful expressions on the faces of her companions. "After all, what's so complicated about ham and cabbage? You just put the cabbage in the pot, throw some ham in and let it cook."

"That's the way YOU do it," Bea admitted. "But . . ."

Mary quickly steered the subject toward safer channels:

"We never have any trouble about clothes," she said. "We like the same things, but we can't wear the same size. Margie is the only one who really likes the chemise, though."

LIKES CHEMISE

"She has to like it," Bea pointed out. "She just bought one."

In selecting material for their act, songs are decided upon by popular vote.

"If one blackballs a particular song," Bea explained, "we don't use it. But she has to have a good reason for blackballing it."

"Mary vetoes the most songs," Margie added.

"But we sing 'em anyway," Mary confessed. "They never think my reason is good enough."

There's one other thing the girls differ on: Men.

"We never seem to like the same guy," Margie said, somewhat wistfully.

Parents Won't Let Her Out at Night

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

Recently when I asked my parents if I could go to an early evening movie with my girl friend they said "No!" They don't want me to go out of the house at night and they don't want me to go around with anyone who is allowed out at night.

Mrs. Ricker, you're a parent, so can you tell me where parents get the idea if a teen-ager goes out at night or walks uptown on Sunday afternoon she (or he) is a hoodlum?

I realize there are some boys and girls who hang around street corners and get into all kinds of trouble but there are many others who don't. I think we should be given a chance to prove what kind of teen-agers we are instead of just labeling all of us "juvenile delinquents." I am 14 and if my parents keep on like this I'll be 18 before they let me out of the house. I respect your advice and hope you can help me.

I, too, believe youngsters should be given the opportunity to prove they are trustworthy. Speaking as a parent I think parents should trust their offspring unless (or until) a youngster proves he does not deserve it.

This does not mean that I believe they should always do as they please or that they should be allowed to roam the streets with no purpose in mind except to attract attention from other boys or girls. But, if you and a girl friend (for example) want to walk uptown on a Sunday afternoon, and perhaps get a soda,

I can see no reason why you shouldn't do it if you conduct yourselves as young ladies.

Or, if one of your parents would drive you to an early evening week-end movie (and pick you up later) I can see nothing wrong with that either. Of course, good behavior is still expected in the movies. No running up and down the aisles looking for boys, no necking if you find one you know, and no disturbing other people.

In other words, when youngsters think they are old enough to be allowed some of the privileges of young adults, they should be willing to accept the responsibility of behaving like young adults.

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am 14 years old and attend high school. Not long ago a sophomore boy (whom I had known for two months) and I got involved in some heavy petting. I did it out of curiosity rather than any feeling of affection. At first I thought I was being smart and sophisticated but now I'm so ashamed I can't face the boy or myself and I'm afraid he will tell stories about me.

Mrs. Ricker, I'm not a bad girl or a tramp. I've even talked this matter over with my mother. She gave me some advice but I can't rest until I know the right thing to do. Should I go to this boy and explain or should I keep on avoiding him. Please help me!

I believe the less you say about this situation the better off you will be. If the boy is the undesirable type who will "kiss and tell," trying to explain things to him will only make matters worse. It certainly will not stop him from talking. On the other hand, if he is mature enough not to brag about what happened, consider yourself lucky and do not put yourself in a similar situation again.

Just be sure your behavior is so far above reproach from now on that even if the boy does gossip about you others will have reasons to doubt his stories. If you make it a point to keep avoiding him your classmates may notice it, so I suggest when you meet him just say, "Hi!" in a casual way and go about your business.

This column is conducted for teen-agers and their parents. Letters can be answered through the column only, as soon as time and space permit. Write your problems to Dorothy Ricker in care of The Atlanta Constitution.

Annie Lou Hardy Farewell Parties Fete Earle Yanceys

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Yancey are planning another trip to Europe and though they do not sail until May 7, already farewell parties are being given in their honor.

Mrs. Julian Tindall has invited a group of friends to meet Mrs. Yancey at luncheon today at the Capital City Club's Mirador Room, and on April 5 Mr. and Mrs. Fleming Settle will entertain at a dinner party at the same place for the pair.

April 12 is the date chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Halsey Garland for their cocktail party in honor of the Yanceys, and Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Payne will be hosts at the cocktail party on April 20, entertaining at their Johnson Ferry road home.

Mrs. Irvin Ragsdale has planned a morning coffee for Mrs. Yancey on April 23 at her home on Habersham Way, and the following day Mr. and Mrs. Yancey will share honors with a recent bride couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Frederick, at the small dinner to be given by Mr. and Mrs. James G. Ison.

Dr. and Mrs. Spencer Kirkland will be hosts at a small cocktail party on May 1 at their Peachtree Battle avenue home for the Fredericks and the Yanceys, and on May 3 Mr. and Mrs. Inman Griffin will entertain at dinner for the foursome at their Rilmor road residence.

The Yanceys have engaged passage on the Queen Mary and after five weeks on the Continent, they will return on the Queen Elizabeth. After a visit to London, they will go to Holland and to Vienna where they hope to hear some opera. Next on their itinerary is Italy where they will visit Venice, Florence and Rome.

"We plan to drive to Naples one day," said Mrs. Yancey, "for our children (the Earle Yanceys Jr. and the Jack Yanceys) were there last summer and they thought that drive the most beautiful part of their trip."

MISS LOIS OWEN of Bronxville, N.Y., stopped here this week for a visit to the Harold Cooleys on Fifteenth street, but she is leaving today for Thomasville.

"Her mother, Mrs. John Owen, was my classmate at Shorter," said Mrs. Cooley, "so I've had a wonderful time catching up on all the news of her family."

DOWN FROM NEW YORK for the spring holidays are Mrs. James P. Furniss and her children, Laleah and Jimmy. Mr. Furniss will join them tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Furniss' uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Cam Dorsey, where they are guests for two weeks.

The Furniss family will return in June to resume their residence here after a year in New York.

ENGLISH ROBINSON JR. arrives tomorrow from Vanderbilt University to stay over night with his parents on Howell Mill road before leaving Sunday to join a house party at Daytona Beach for his spring holidays.

OTHER ATLANTA STUDENTS at Vanderbilt are Duncan Briggs Jr. and King Grant Jr. who are expected today. Tomorrow they will be joined by a group of their fraternity brothers, and on Sunday the boys will leave for an SAE house party of 17 members at Daytona.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN ADAMSON of New York are here for a week's visit to the latter's mother, Mrs. W. M. McCarron, on Mt. Vernon road.

MISS BETSY SOJOURNER, a junior at the University of North Carolina, will attend the Azalea Festival at Wilmington, N.C., this weekend as the guest of her classmate, Miss Tugge Track. She will arrive home on Thursday to spend the spring holidays with her parents, the J. B. Sojourners.

MISS JANE GARST of Surrey, England, is expected on Saturday for her first visit to Atlanta. She will accompany her Sweet Briar classmate, Miss Stephanie Anne Barutio, and they will spend their spring holidays at the latter's home on E. Wesley road.

ROY DRUKENMILLER SR. is in Los Angeles this week to attend the National Music Educators conference. He represents the music department of the Fulton County Board of Education.

ANOTHER ATLANTAN in Los Angeles is Mrs. C. R. Gibbs who was called there by the illness of her son, Taylor Mitchell, at the Kaiser Foundation Hospital.

Child Outgrows Fear Of Shots at 8 or 9

Briefly noted: When does a child outgrow his fear of shots? Usually around the age of 8 or 9, Dr. Karl Kassowitz, a Milwaukee pediatrician believes.

Dr. Kassowitz recorded the reaction to 328 shots of 133 children ranging from tiny babies to 12 year olds. He found the average baby under six months to be docile under duress — in fact, the baby rarely felt a shot to be duress — but from 12 months through the fourth year the same child shows violent fear and resentment.

After his fifth birthday, his rebellion declines steadily until by the time he is 8 or 9, he brags of his ability to "take it" and looks scornfully at those who cringe.

Why are boys more self-reliant than girls, as they apparently are? Boys will bully, wheedle, bribe or fight to finish something. Girls are more apt to give up any endeavor that brings them into conflict with another child.

Dr. Boyd McCandless, director of the University of Iowa child welfare research station, feels the mother's attitude toward conflicts may be the reason. Toward boys, Dr. McCandless believes mothers are more punishing; they reprimand more frequently or give an ultimatum.

With girls, mothers are inclined to explain, suggest and try to resolve an upset (nice word for fight) constructively. With boys? "You stop that fighting THIS MINUTE!"

Are you gracious? Then your child probably will be. Dr. Elizabeth B. Hurlock, psychologist, writing recently in Family Health, sets forth nine household hints for making one's child popular:

1. Be nice to others yourself.
2. Supervise your child's early play with others; show him how to get along with others. Explain why some acts (sharing his popcorn) are good and some (snatching somebody else's popcorn) are bad. As he gets older, discuss impersonally why some children are popular and others are not.

3. Encourage him to bring his friends home and help him learn to entertain.

4. Watch for jealousy within the family and try to correct the cause.

5. Play games with your child so he will learn how.

6. Give him a chance to talk when the family is together and teach him to talk about things that will interest others.

7. Call on him for help around the house (so he eventually will help in the home he is visiting).

8. Teach him to laugh at himself; make sure the home is cheerful.

9. Expect him to consider the interests and desires of the family.

It also is an excellent idea to introduce one's child to adult guests. The earlier this is done, the better, so that he will not only learn ease, graciousness and warmth around strangers, but so that he will be accustomed to adult, nonfamily conversation.

Miss Randle Is Wed to Mr. Brown

DUBLIN.—At an afternoon ceremony solemnized in the sanctuary of the Jefferson Street Baptist Church here, Miss Shirley Randle, daughter of the Charles H. Randles, became the bride of Howard Ash Brown, son of Mrs. Fred L. Brown and the late Mr. Brown.

The pastor, the Rev. Frank E. Singleton, assisted by the Rev. John O. Ford, officiated.

Mr. Randle gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over white satin in which Mrs. Gerald Weaver wore at her wedding. Her tulle veil was fastened to a lace cap embroidered in pearls, and she carried a white satin prayer book adorned with white orchids, valley lilies and Eucharist lilies.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Ray Epperson as matron of honor, Miss Mary Ann Sherod of Atlanta and Miss Joyce Daniel of Garetta as bridesmaids.

Al Sawyer of St. Simons was best man for Mr. Brown. Serving as usher-groomsmen were Frank Hodges Jr. of Tampa; Lucy Williams, William R. Smith, Mickey Pope and Terry Coleman.

After the service Mr. and Mrs. Randle entertained at a reception in the church parlors. Mrs. Carl Wilkerson kept the bride's car.

Mr. Brown and his bride left for a wedding trip, after which they will live at 517 Tucker St., Dublin.

Celestine Sibley Fighting Neighbors

All of us who have deplored the absence of the two-party political system in the South might take a look at Towns County. It's one of those rare places in Georgia where the Republicans and Democrats are about evenly divided, evenly matched and mad as hornets at each other.

"A man in this county may not know his neighbor's religious affiliation or how many children he's got. But one thing's certain, he knows whether his neighbor is a Republican or a Democrat," a court official explained to me the other day.

The wrestle over the office of school superintendent, both legal and physical, has waged since the day after election in November, 1936, and cases growing out of it could keep the March session of superior court going well into April. This is a matter of such intense interest to the people of the county that they come into court in great numbers and spend the entire day listening, stolidly, intently, with none of the big court gaiety or carnival spirit that usually pervades a session in a small town.

This atmosphere surprised me a little. Most Southerners enjoy their politics. There is almost always a quality of sociability about the game, even if the principals are playing for keeps and fight each other bitterly. The voter, the average voter, chooses his candidate much like he would choose a race horse and then settles back to enjoy the sport and the suspense in the race.

Here there's anger, resentment and a feeling that neighbor is set against neighbor. Of course the two-party system isn't really to blame. But it's an interesting phenomenon to me because I never lived where two parties of equal strength functioned.

In Towns County, from what they tell me, the Democrats held the county offices for many years until Ordinary Claude Swanson, a Republican, got in his party's wedge a couple of elections ago. Then the November, 1936, election brought in a rash of Republicans, including Unsel Garrett for the post of school superintendent held by Ray Nicholson, a Democrat. The only difficulty was that Mr. Garrett hadn't qualified with the county and state boards before the election, and although he now has a commission from the governor and the state board of education, the court has held that he got it too late. The law says a candidate must qualify "preceding" the election.

"I didn't know anything about that," Mr. Garrett told me. "But I got the most votes and I'm going to keep fighting until I get that office."

So the calendar is filled with court cases and although some of them apparently haven't anything to do with politics, the resentment and the anger growing out of politics pops up. There was the case of the man being tried for drunkenness and pointing a gun at his employer. The employer, as the state solicitor pointed out, testified reluctantly and once during his time on the stand his temper flared.

"This case has not been tried for four terms and I think it's being tried now because of malice!"

The judge reproved him and the trial—a minor one to use the time while the jury was out in one Garrett case and the sheriff was rounding up jurors for the next Garrett case—moved on. And the silent, listening crowd stayed with it.

Creuser Baby

Mr. and Mrs. Kenton B. Creuser announce the birth of a daughter, Loren Leigh, on March 7 at Piedmont Hospital. Mrs. Creuser is the former Jacquelyn Brownlee.

Budreau Vows Said In Vidalia

Mrs. Myri Patrick Budreau and J. Lindley Budreau were reunited in marriage at a quiet ceremony solemnized in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church of Vidalia, with only the members of the immediate families and a few close friends present.

The Rev. O. L. Pedigo Jr. officiated.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. John N. Patrick and the late Mr. Patrick of Vidalia, wore a navy blue suit with matching accessories and a flower hat. Her flowers were bronze orchids.

Following the service, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Reid entertained at a breakfast at their home on the Swainsboro road. Mr. Budreau and his bride left for a wedding trip, after which they will live in Savannah, where the former holds a position at Williams Studio and is a member of the staff of the evening school at Armstrong Junior College.

Club. Miss Thomas, daughter of Mrs. John C. Thomas, will be married to Lt. Frank Hollberg Jr., USN, at St. Philip's Cathedral. The wedding is set for April 19.

Miss Moore Is Bride of Mr. Fisher

The Islip Methodist Church at Islip, Long Island, formed the setting for the marriage of Miss Margaret Helen Moore, daughter of the Joseph A. Moores of Islip, to Ensign Harvey Enloe Fisher, son of Dr. and Mrs. George B. Fisher of Hickory Hill, Franklin, Ga.

The Rev. Lester E. Loder officiated at the afternoon ceremony which was followed by a reception held at the Moore home.

Mrs. Emory B. Remington attended her sister as matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Emerson W. Dunton, Mrs. Gary L. Rhodes and Miss Diane Volavka.

W. P. Enloe Jr. of Roanoke, Ala., was best man for his cousin, and in the double role of usher-groomsmen were Emerson W. Dunton, Gary L. Rhodes and Wayne D. Moore.

Mr. Moore gave his daughter in marriage. She chose a gown of delustered satin, embroidered in seed pearls and sequins, and designed with a chapel train. Her fingertip veil fell from a Dutch cap of Alencon lace traced in pearls and sequins, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis and fleurs d'amour.

After a Florida honeymoon, Ensign Fisher and his bride will live in Jacksonville, Fla.

State Cancels License Of Liquor Distributor

Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams Thursday revoked the license of the Augusta Distributing Co., wholesale liquor firm charged with selling liquor to bootleggers in dry counties.

Blaming the situation on the fact that six wholesale liquor firms are too many for the Augusta area, the commissioner said he would not issue another wholesale license there.

Citation of the Augusta firm by Williams on charges of violating regulations by selling to unlicensed persons grew out of the arrest last Dec. 22 of Roy Buxton, one of the firm's salesmen, as he was delivering liquor in Athens, where the sale of liquor is illegal.

Rayburn Hits 'Wealthy' Opposing Ike Trade Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas Thursday denounced in a prepared speech "rich and powerful" opponents of President Eisenhower's foreign trade program as potentially more dangerous than Communists.

The speech was later tempered when delivered to the National Conference on International Trade.

Rep. Ikard (D-Tex.), who delivered the speech for Rayburn, said he cut it as he went along because President Eisenhower was to speak right after him on a rigid radio-TV schedule.

"I honestly can't remember what I omitted," Ikard said. "I just cut as I went along." He emphasized he did not drop a harsh paragraph because he disagreed with it.

Ikard subbed for Rayburn when the latter found he had inadvertently scheduled a conflicting appearance at Columbia, Mo., Thursday night.

In his prepared talk, Rayburn sharply criticized business interests which oppose President Eisenhower's proposal to extend the act authorizing tariff reductions when the President deems necessary.

Dropped from the speech, as Ikard delivered it, was this paragraph about what Rayburn called "big businessmen":

"These men, rich and powerful beyond the dimensions of their predecessors, are allegedly capitalists. But their behavior is that of anticapitalists. Hence they are potentially more dangerous to us than Communists among us."

Churchill Planning To Go Home

ROQUEBRUNE, France (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill is "doing much better" and will leave for London when the weather has improved, Lady Churchill said Thursday.

The 83-year-old British statesman was back on a fairly normal routine following a slight setback in his recovery from attacks of pneumonia and pleurisy last month. But the weather here has been raw and chilly and household sources said it might be three or four days before Churchill would be permitted to go out doors.

Science Turning Water Into Fuel, Says Atom Bomb Pioneer Here

By JAMES SHEPPARD

A chemistry professor who helped build the first atomic bomb predicted here Thursday night that scientists soon will turn water into a fuel similar to gasoline.

Dr. W. H. Jones of Emory University.

Declaring that "the sky is the limit in science," Dr. Jones addressed nearly 600 persons attending a $25-a-plate Southern College of Pharmacy testimonial banquet honoring Dr. Judson L. Hawk Sr., first chairman of the school's board of trustees.

"The time is near at hand when we will be able to think of oceans as potentially billions of gallons of gasoline," said Jones, former laboratory director of the Oak Ridge uranium processing plant and an active researcher in developing the first atomic bomb.

Jones does experimental work at Emory with an 86-inch cyclotron, a device for accelerating protons to ultra-high speeds to investigate properties of atomic nuclei. It also is used to produce nuclear transmutation and artificial radio-active substances.

During summers he does research at Oak Ridge where the Sherwood project currently is trying to harness the H-bomb.

Jones said scientific developments "which we used to speak of as fantastic are near at hand."

"Trips to the moon," he said, "are almost within reality and will become as everyday as an old-fashioned excursion to Sea Island used to be in Georgia."

Auto Worker Wins Sports Car, $820

A Decatur man was named winner of a sport sedan Thursday night in a letter-writing contest.

Bob S. Peebles of 1855 Briar-lake Circle, Decatur, also won $820 in cash to pay taxes of his prize.

Peebles, a labor standards analyst in the Fisher Body plant in Atlanta, wrote one of 45 best letters in a contest for GM employees on the subject: "The Golden Milestone—What It Means to Me, My Family and My Community."

He received his award from GM President Harlow H. Cur-tice at a banquet in Detroit.

Kickbacks to Fired Aide Reported, Williams Says

By BRUCE GALPHIN

Revenue Commissioner T. V. Williams said Thursday he released Jason Weems as deputy sales tax director after checking reports Weems "had been receiving commissions or kickbacks from firms with whom he and the department were doing business."

The charge was the latest blast in a running warfare between Williams and Weems that started when Weems was fired Feb. 28.

On Wednesday, Weems released the text of a letter in which he authorized a former employer to supply certain financial records requested by Williams.

The fired official charged that Williams was trying to build up a case against him in order to keep him from testifying about sales tax operations before the Senate Watchdog Committee.

Williams retorted Thursday that "it would be preposterous to think that by releasing a person from the employ of this department . . . I would then exercise such control . . . as to prevent them from appearing before any committee.

"Mr. Jason Weems in his capacity as assistant director of the sales and use tax unit had principal charge of requisition for supplies and office equipment. . . .

"I received reports that Mr. Weems had been receiving commissions or kickbacks from firms with whom he and the department were doing business," Williams continued.

ORDERED AUDIT

The commissioner said he ordered an auditing of tax records "in order that I might protect the interest of this department. I was satisfied as to the accuracy of the reports. I released Mr. Weems from the employ of this department . . ."

Williams added that when he was considering the race for governor, he announced he would resign. "Other employees should follow this position," he contended.

"I do not intend to allow the State Revenue Dept. and the employees . . . to become a beehive of politics. Revenues cannot and should not be collected nor handled on a political basis," the commissioner continued.

NO LEAVE

"No one has been granted a leave of absence to run for any political office since I assumed the duties as state revenue commissioner over three years ago," he stated.

Fired employees can "holler politics just as loud as they wish," Williams said. "It seems that in many instances when employees . . . are released whether for bootlegging, not working, drinking, accepting kickbacks or for any other reason, they immediately claim for themselves great political influence."

"The political camps to which they go might do well before so readily accepting them into their camps to inquire from me as to the real cause for their release," Williams said.

Weems also charged Williams' latest check was "further punitive action" because Weems had stated sales tax employees were forced to contribute to a fund to put Gov. Griffin on television to attack the Atlanta newspapers.

2 Injured as Taxi Swerves To Avoid Hole and Hits Car

Mechanical failure Thursday caused an automobile to swerve across the street and collide head-on with another vehicle, injuring two persons, police said.

William J. Blanton, 57, of 881 Washington St., SW, driver of one vehicle, suffered abrasions of the knees and arms. Patrolman D. E. Keown said. The second driver, Everett W. Gosnell, 57, of 1447 Boatrock Rd., a taxicab driver, was treated at Grady Hospital for chest and internal injuries.

Keown said he was told Gosnell, driving east in the 100 block of Atlanta avenue, SE, swerved to avoid an excavation in the street and applied his brakes. The left front wheel locked. Keown said, causing the taxi to cross the street and collide with a west-bound auto driven by Blanton, an employee of the GBI.

In other wrecks, police said: Dr. Karl H. Rist, 54, of 2400 Edgewater Rd., SW, suffered lacerations to the head when the car he was driving was struck by an Atlantic Coast Line switch engine at the Chappel road crossing.

Marion W. Banks, 32, of 184 Ormond St., was slightly hurt in a two-car crash in the 100 block of Alexander street, NW.

Willie Williams, 28, of 593 Ashby St., NW, suffered facial injuries in a similar wreck at Ashby and Simpson streets, NW.

Clyde G. Harper, 37, of 749 Marietta St., NW, was slightly hurt in a collision involving two trucks at 50 University Ave., SW.

DeKalb Site For Juvenile Home Sought

Construction of the DeKalb County juvenile home should begin by mid-summer, DeKalb County Commissioner Julian Harris told a DeKalb League of Women Voters audience Thursday.

Harris, speaking at the league's annual luncheon meeting, said the acquisition of land is holding up progress on the $150,000 bond-financed structure. He said the county now has two sites that could be used, one located near the Public Works Camp on Memorial drive, and another adjacent to the County Health Building in Decatur.

The county could build the home at one of these sites now, Harris said, "but they aren't sites the majority would approve of." He said the county is looking for more suitable locations, but land costs and zoning have held them up.

Commissioner Walt Toney, speaking on roads, said the county's thoroughfares will be in better shape when weather conditions allow construction to be speeded up.

Gospel Singer May Enter Race For Governor

CARTERSVILLE (AP)—Close friends of LeRoy Abernathy, television gospel singer, said Friday he may be a candidate for governor of Georgia in the September Democratic primary.

A news story in the Cartersville Daily Tribune-News quoted associates of the Canton singer and piano dealer as saying he has been in contact with state political leaders regarding the race.

A native of the Atco village at Cartersville, Abernathy appears on a regular television broadcast from an Atlanta station. His recordings of gospel songs are played frequently over radio stations throughout the state.

ATLANTA LOCALE

Celestine's First Novel Out Monday

"The Malignant Heart," a mystery novel written by Celestine Sibley, columnist for The Atlanta Constitution, will be published Monday by Doubleday and Co.

Although the mystery story is Miss Sibley's first novel, it will not be her first published fiction. Two of her short stories previously have appeared in the Georgia Review and a number of her children's stories have been printed in other magazines.

Miss Sibley, describes "The Malignant Heart" as "a newspaper story with an Atlanta locale."

NOT REAL LIFE

"But no character in the book," Miss Sibley declared, "is based on a real-life Atlantan."

The heroine of Miss Sibley's mystery is "a young, red-headed newspaperwoman named Katherine (Katy) Kincaid, who becomes entangled in a murder while covering the opening of the Metropolitan Opera here."

CRIME CLUB

Miss Sibley's novel has been selected as "book of the month" by the Doubleday Crime Club.

Her husband, James W. Little Jr., veteran Atlanta newspaper man, died in 1953.

She is the mother of a son, Jimmy, and two daughters, Susan and Mary.

Several autograph parties and teas are planned for Miss Sibley.

Griffin Transfers $59,150 To Pay For an Already-Published Ad

Gov. Griffin transferred $59,150 to the Commerce department Thursday to pay for an eight-page magazine advertisement which is already in print.

He also allocated $34,967.84 from contingent funds to pay for a Southeastern Fair exhibit which Secretary of Commerce Scott Candler authorized without obtaining bids.

Other transfers in the $637,727.70 allocation included $126,740 to the Agricultural department for work at various facilities, $100,000 to the Commerce department to pay for a natural resources and market survey, $100,000 to the Georgia Ports Authority for work at the Bainbridge inland port and $56,860.86 to start the recently approved State Patrol longevity pay raises.

State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr. said Thursday he had asked Gov. Griffin why the magazine advertisement was approved before funds were available.

But Griffin replied in a letter: "I approved this item at the request of the Department of Commerce some nine months ago and advised Mr. Candler that I would make funds available for that purpose. I have seen the ads and they meet my approval. Also I have had hundreds of favorable comments from people in Georgia as well as from other states."

Thrasher said he had no record of any previous approval. But he added there was nothing illegal about approving the funds after the ad had run.

The advertisement consists of eight pages in four colors in the April issue of "Coronet" magazine. It boasts Georgia as a tourist attraction.

It took a special compensation resolution by the 1958 General Assembly to secure permission to pay Robert K. Price of Newnan for the gigantic man he built for the Southeastern Fair.

Atty. Gen. Cook had held that the state could not pay Price without resolution because Candler had not secured bids on the project.

The $100,000 transfer to the Bainbridge port includes $70,000 for work on a warehouse and a $30,000 item listed simply as "equipment."

Included in the Agriculture department transfer was $35,000 to build a 10-acre parking lot at the Cordele Farmers Market. Agriculture Commissioner Phil Campbell said the facility was needed "because of the terribly congested situation on Route 41 around the market during the watermelon season."

Other items are $40,000 for an office and cafe at Cordele, $5,000 for rest rooms and an onion-grading machine at Glennville, $2,300 for roof repairs and a bean-grading machine at Savannah and $15,000 for a parking area at the Americus sweet potato curing house.

Red Customs Men Steal Gift Parcels

VIENNA (AP)—Hungarian police have arrested 22 customs officials on charges of stealing gift parcels from abroad, the Hungarian Communist newspaper Nepszabadsag said Thursday.

The group operated in several Budapest post offices and aboard Vienna-Budapest trains, the newspaper said.

Atlantan Killed, Pal Shot In Pistol-Shotgun Duel

An Atlanta man was killed and another seriously injured Thursday in a gun battle with a pistol and shotgun, police said.

Robert Lee Turner, 31, Negro, of 540 Kennedy St., NW, died after being admitted to Grady Hospital with a shotgun wound in the abdomen, patrolmen G. E. Wallace and C. R. Vaughn said.

Hubert Ford, 36, Negro, of 723 Kennedy St., was admitted to Grady in serious condition. Patrolmen said one pistol bullet struck Ford in the abdomen and another broke his right leg.

WAS INDICTED

Turner was one of more than two dozen persons indicted last year by the federal grand jury on lottery conspiracy charges. He was one of 10 persons found guilty in federal court and was sentenced to a three-year federal term.

Also found guilty on a federal charge of perjury, Turner was given another three years, concurrent. He was under $2,500 appeal bond.

Ford was identified as one of the persons arrested when federal agents and criminal court Sol. John I. Kelley raided Horace Ingram's garage on Howell Mill road a year ago Thursday.

The garage raid precipitated the investigation by the federal and Fulton County grand juries.

Ford was placed under bond following the raid, officers said, but later was relieved of the collateral.

Patrolmen and detectives Harry McCollister and E. F. McKillop said they were told the gun battle developed after Turner slapped a girl.

FOUND CLUTCHING PISTOL

Ford evidently went home and got a shotgun and Turner got a pistol, officers said. They added the two met at the rear of an apartment house at 435 Vine St., NW, and the battle began with Turner standing on the stairway.

Wallace and Vaughn, first officers to reach the scene, said Turner was lying face down on the stairway, a .38-caliber pistol clutched in his right hand.

Ford was seated in a metal lawn chair at the foot of the stairway.

Five cartridges had been fired in the pistol found in Turner's hand, officers related. They said Ford fired the 12-gauge shotgun only once.

Committee Starts Planning Woman of the Year Salute

Planning for Atlanta's 1958 Woman of the Year salute is already under way.

Mrs. C. Baxter Jones Jr., has been named chairman of the WOTY executive committee. Her committee and the WOTY board will meet Monday night to name the six men who will serve as selection chairmen for next year's group of "top" local women.

The 16th annual WOTY tribute, culminating in an awards banquet next January at the Piedmont Driving Club, will be sponsored by Delta Air Lines, Inc. C. E. Woolman, Delta president, will have charge of the banquet and the silver trophies presented to honorees by the sponsoring company.

Other members of the 1958 WOTY executive committee are: Mrs. Charles D. Hurt, co-chairman; and Mrs. David C. Black Jr., Miss Helen B. McDuffie, and Mrs. James M. Sibley. The WOTY board of directors is comprised of the executive committee plus the following: Mrs. Robert F. Adamson, Mrs. Harold N. Coolidge, Miss Nora Belle Emerson, Mrs. Donald Hastings, Mrs. John S. Knox, Mrs. Floyd W. McRae Jr., Mrs. Berrien Moore Jr., Mrs. Charles T. Pottinger, Mrs. James D. Robinson, Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, and Mrs. Robert G. Watt.

Past WOTY sponsors are, in the order of their sponsorship: Davison-Paxon Co., Georgia Power Co., Atlanta Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Atlanta Gas Light Co., Retail Credit Co., J. P. Allen and Co., Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co., Sears, Roebuck and Co., Scripto, Inc., Citizens and Southern National Bank, First National Bank, Coca-Cola Co., Lockheed Aircraft Corp., Georgia Division, Trust Company of Georgia, and the Ford Division, Ford Motor Co.

Symphony and Choruses Give Stirring Program

By BRUCE GALPHIN

The Atlanta Symphony is concluding its current season on an exalted note.

With the cooperation of the Choral Guild of Atlanta, Maestro Henry Sopkin and the orchestra offered a polished, stunning performance of Ernest Bloch's "Sacred Service" Thursday night.

In its final program, the Symphony kept aloft the new degree of maturity it has been displaying in recent concerts. And in Haskell Boyter's Choral Guild, it had the perfect complement.

DIFFICULT WORK

To perform the Bloch work at all is a rare achievement. Its technical and dynamic demands have limited its reproduction on records to one or two versions, even in this vinylite era.

But to hear it performed is an uplifting experience.

Much credit for Thursday night's success goes to the soloists: soprano Frances Richardson, tenor John Moulson and especially to bass Boyter, who carried most of the solo load.

CHORUS SHINES

But this was no case of soloists' outshining the chorus. The Choral Guild not only sang beautifully, but it sang with the glory and the humility and the hope of the text itself. The "Kedushah" was breathtaking.

The Emory University Chorus' reading of Schubert's "Mass in G Major" was less exciting.

The college group's voices refused to sustain tones. The female voices somewhat outshone the male voices, which were themselves weak at times.

"CONCERTO FOR VIOLINS"

The same three soloists served in the Schubert as did in the Bloch. This time it was Mrs. Richardson who most superbly sang the bulk of the solo work. Moulson, whose parts were limited in both works, displayed a beautiful tonal quality.

Completing the program was an arrangement of Bach's "Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor" which was amiably performed. Its fugal second movement was particularly lovely, and substitution of harp for harpsichord was an inspired device.

Driver Training Grants Given For Teachers

Driver education scholarships for high school teachers are available this summer at the University of Georgia in Athens.

The scholarships were provided by the Allstate Foundation which announced its sixth grant Thursday to the university for training teachers in proper methods of instructing students in safety and driving education.

E. A. McDonald, Georgia director of the foundation, said the scholarships will be administered through the university's College of Education to teachers from schools where a driving course is planned for next fall.

Riot Trial Postponed at Hiwassee

By CELESTINE SIBLEY

HIWASSEE—The trial of rioting charges against Unseld Garrett, Republican claimant to the post of school superintendent here, was indefinitely postponed in Superior Court Thursday due to the illness of Defense Attorney John Davis.

Judge John E. Frankum said he did not know when he would reset the case for trial but he assumed it would be as soon as the attorney recovered.

An assault and battery case against Garrett resulted in a mistrial Wednesday. A third indictment charging breaking and entering is also pending against him and three other men who allegedly accompanied him to the office of Ray Nicholson, Democratic claimant to the superintendent's job, and attempted to remove Nicholson bodily and take over the office. The other three are Jack Shook, J. D. Penland and Don Fox.

Judge Frankum dismissed the grand jury after commending its service and presentments.

PREPARE FOR NEW LAW

Voter Registration Rolls Closing 10 Days in Fulton

Fulton County's voter registration rolls have been closed to citizens for about 10 days while the registration office prepares to operate under the new state voter registration act.

Standish Thompson, county tax commissioner and chief registrar, said Thursday his office was ordered Wednesday to stop registering voters under the 1949 act since this law was repealed when Gov. Griffin signed the new law.

The official said his office is installing a new "key-punch card system" because of "the additional work required under the new law."

According to Thompson, the new law will require citizens wanting to register to vote to make two trips to the registration office unless the county registrar's board is in continuous session.

The commissioner said he is appointing an additional registrar so that citizens can be examined on their qualifications at the same time that they make applications, and the extra trip might be avoided.

But he emphasized that some citizens will "have to make two trips" when large groups of citizens appear together to register because there will be too many people for two registrars to examine.

Thompson also emphasized that in order to make the new registration act operate, there cannot be any intensive voter registration drives in the county. This would bring more people to the office at one time than the registrars could handle and would thus necessitate two trips for some people, he explained.

"If a registration drives goes on over a period of several months, no second visit will be required," Thompson explained, "because we can handle it."

Explaining the new system being installed, the official said cards are being prepared which will contain all the questions required by law. From these cards, a "working deck" will be prepared so that each polling precinct in the county will have a complete county registration list, he added.

Thompson said the firm supplying the material for the new system have said it might take six weeks for delivery. "However, we are pressing them and hope we can be ready in 10 days," he said.

The tax commissioner said his office will notify local newspapers and radio and TV stations when registration books will be re-opened.

Drivers Clinic To Be Held at City Auditorium

A drivers clinic will be conducted Monday at the Municipal Auditorium.

Two sessions will be presented at 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m., Mrs. Gene Goslee, clinic chairman, announced.

The clinic will be sponsored by the Pilot Club and the Atlanta Traffic and Safety Council.

Leaders will include Chief Herbert Jenkins and Capt. Fred Beerman of the Atlanta Police Department; Col. W. C. Dominey and Capt. F. M. Davies of the State Department of Public Safety; Robert R. Snodgrass, president of the Atlanta Traffic and Safety Council; Angelo Crowe, driving instructor at North Fulton High School; Lewis Cook, safety supervisor of Atlanta schools; Dr. F. L. Warren, and John Gibbs, service manager of Ford district sales office.

Brewery Gets Paid For 1891 Delivery

HERTFORD, England—McMullen's brewery received $2.52 this week for 18 gallons of beer it delivered to a Hertford man in 1891.

A relative of the now-dead purchaser sent the check, along with the brewery's 67-year-old bill. Now the 18 gallons would bring $22.52.

Leukemia Victim, 6, Going Home

Friday will be a big day for Debra January, six-year-old Atlanta leukemia victim.

The youngster, who has spent weary weeks in Grady Memorial Hospital, is going home.

"We'll have another birthday party for her," Debby's mother, Mrs. Frances January of 1314 Brewster St., SW, said. "You know she had to spend her sixth birthday in a hospital bed."

Mrs. January, on first learning of the diagnosis of Debby's usually fatal ailment, had asked for Atlantans' prayers. She reported "wonderful response." Her daughter, cheered by showers of get-well cards and gifts, is "eating more and feeling better," the mother said, adding: "Doctors still don't give me much hope, but I keep praying."

Boys Here Charged in Rails Case

Two small boys Thursday were cited to appear in Juvenile Court in connection with two episodes which police said could have caused train wrecks.

Detective J. L. Carney said the two—aged 9 and 10—were scheduled to appear at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Juvenile Court. In the meantime, Carney said, they were left in custody of their parents.

Both admitted placing metal objects on the rails of the Southern Railroad main line near Roxboro road, NE, Carney related. He identified the objects as heavy tie plates used to hold the rails to wooden cross ties.

PIERCES DIESEL

A freight train struck the tie plates Sunday, Carney said, and one heavy plate was hurled through the fuel tank on a diesel engine.

A train crew from the Chamblee station observed the youths back at the same location Wednesday and chased them down, Carney related. He added the crewmen at that time found three more tie plates on the rails.

One youth admitted he knew placing objects on railroad tracks was dangerous, Carney said, but added: "We were just playing."

BOASTS TO SCHOOLMATES

The younger of the two was contacted at school, where he was boasting to classmates of the incidents, Carney said. He added the youth's father already had heard of the incident and had given the boy a whipping.

Carney said the tie plates had been distributed along the tracks preparatory to repair work being done and the youths found them while playing along the railroad right of way.

(The names of accused persons under 17 years of age are withheld in accordance with the Georgia Juvenile Court Law.)

Swiss Secretary Is Good Will Messenger

BASEL, Switzerland (AP)—Basel is sending a 20-year-old secretary, Sylvia Spycher, to the United States as a community good will ambassador.

She will spend the first five weeks with a family in Schenectady, N.Y., before going on to New York City, Brattleboro, Vt., and Washington, D.C.

CRUSADER—Sandra Reynolds, 11, of Perry, is 1958 "Miss Georgia Cancer Crusader" and will represent the state at the Cure Cancer Congress in Washington, D.C., next Tuesday. She also will help the Georgia Division, American Cancer Society, in its 1958 Education - Funds Crusade. Sandra won her battle over cancer nine years ago.

EXPERT'S VIEW

Production Called Key To Inflation

The answer to inflation is higher productivity, Phil Carroll, a time study, wage incentive and cost control specialist, said here Thursday night.

"Most people do not realize that in the past 10 years wages have increased 61 per cent while productivity has increased only 26 per cent," he added.

"Productivity is our only source of wealth. With higher productivity we increase the value of the dollar so it will buy more. That's the remedy for inflation," he concluded.

Carroll is in Atlanta under auspices of the Georgia Chapter, Society for Advancement of Management.

He will present a Cost Reduction Workshop Friday morning and afternoon at the Architects & Engineers Institute, 230 Spring St., NW, and will speak at 8 p.m. Friday at the Life of Georgia auditorium on "How Supervisors Can Control Costs."

He was guest at a luncheon Thursday at the Capital City Club given by Frank H. Neely, chairman of the board of Rich's, Inc. He is the author of several books and has lectured throughout the country.

25 Pct. Mark Reached by Red Cross

The Greater Atlanta Red Cross Chapter has one-fourth of its 1958 fund-raising campaign goal.

New gifts totaling $59,900 Thursday pushed the drive total to $154,331. Workers are aiming for $616,000 by their April 11 deadline.

Wednesday donations were brought in by volunteers in three campaign divisions. They were broken up as follows: Employees, division, $31,136; initial gifts, $25,400; and public employees division, $3,363.

Dr. Irvin Greenberg, Atlanta surgeon and longtime member of the local Red Cross board of directors, reminded workers Thursday that "Atlanta has been spared the grave natural disaster experienced by so many neighboring states and cities."

"We are fortunately on the giving rather than the receiving end right now," he declared. "It is a privilege to give to the Red Cross, which alleviates such disasters."

The physician reported a recent incident in his own practice in which the Red Cross blood program made possible rapid delivery of a rare type of needed blood that "if we had been typing random donors would have called for typing between 400 and 500 persons." Such incidents, he added, "are recorded often in Atlanta hospitals and in hospitals over the nation."

Reserve Chapter Elects Officers Here Tonight

New officers of the Greater Atlanta Chapter of the Reserve Officers Assn. will be chosen at the March meeting of the association to be held Friday night at the Officers Club of the Naval Air Station.

Officers and their wives will assemble at 7:15 for the dinner and program. Principal speaker will be Brig. Gen. Murray C. Woodbury, USAF (Ret.), of Atlanta. He will discuss the future of the Air Force.

Retiring president of the chapter is Commander Lloyd Sifford, USNR, of Atlanta.

6 of 12 New Schools Are Open in DeKalb But Lack of Funds Cuts Back 4 Others

By OSCAR JOHNSON

DeKalb County has about reached the half-way mark in construction of elementary schools under its school bond program, Supt. Jim Cherry said Thursday.

Six of 12 schools planned have been opened, he said.

School officials added that parts of the over-all elementary and high school building program have been curtailed for lack of funds. Doraville, Hollywood and Briarcliff elementary schools and Briarcliff High have been reduced in size.

Open to pupils so far are elementary schools costing the following: Briarclake, $388,888; Terry Mill, $404,531; Tilton, $388,272; Laurel Ridge, $380,773; Gresham Park, $408,164; and Midway, $370,896. Briarclake was the first school to be put into use, opening Dec. 2, 1957, following the Oct. 30, 1956 bond issue.

Midway school, whose plans have been exhibited as outstanding, is the latest to open, being put into use Monday.

Six elementary schools being built are Oak Grove, Fernbank, Sherrill Avenue, Briarcliff, Hollywood, and Doraville, each having a "cafeteria" and auxiliary rooms.

Officials said that facilities not included in the schools when they are built will be added later.

Briarcliff elementary will not have eight classrooms, a gym, library or shop that were on original plans. They added that temporary arrangements will provide these services until the facilities are added.

As for the other schools, Melvin M. Davis, in charge of plant construction, said rooms will be added as they are needed and as funds become available.

Superintendent Cherry's office said that expenses have risen by 12 per cent since the program was conceived, and that the state has not "unfrozen" capital outlay funds under the Minimum Foundation Program to pay an expected $1,000,000.

The locally financed part of the program amounted to an $11,000,000 bond sale, with the $1,000,000 to be provided by the state.

schools are to each have 20 classrooms, with 23 in Gresham Park school, 25 in Fernbank school, nine in Hollywood and seven in Doraville schools.

School officials said that the selection of schools to be cut back was made on a priority system. They said all first-priority construction has gone as planned, and most second-priority building, "tail-end" construction was curtailed when it became apparent adequate funds were not available, they added.

New high schools under construction are Cross Keys, 70 instructional units including gym; Tilton, 38 units and gym, and Briarcliff road, 22 units.

Georgia's Economy Described as Sound

By BOB WILLIMON

A top Georgia industrialist expressed the belief here Thursday that the state's ranks of unemployed are not a significant index to current economic conditions.

"Quite frankly," he added, "I think some of the people in them are volunteers."

Food Prices To Rise, Kroger Chief Says

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Kroger Co. President Joseph B. Hall predicted Thursday that food prices this year will average about 3 per cent higher than in 1957, chiefly because of wage increases.

Hall said there was a 2½ per cent increase in 1957 over the previous year's prices of products handled by Kroger.

The percentage rise in food costs, he said, has been less over the last five years than the rise in industrial wages.

The recession is leveling off, in Hall's opinion. He said he was inclined to believe there would be an upturn this summer in the economy.

Stock Firms Back Higher Brokers' Fee

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 120 member firms of the New York Stock Exchange Thursday signed a statement favoring a proposed increase in brokerage commissions.

The firms said in a statement: "The steady increase in the costs of conducting a securities commission business, a rising break-even point and a falling rate of profit results in a profit-margin squeeze from which all business is suffering. A prudent and foresighted industry does not wait for severe losses before it increases its rates or the charges for its services."

In view of the profit squeeze, the firms said "the proposed increase in commission rates of about 13 per cent is an extremely modest one."

The statement said that an alternative to raising rates might be a countrywide reduction in the number of firms and an increased concentration of exchange business in a few extremely large firms.

The exchange Board of Governors a week ago proposed an amendment to the Big Board constitution to boost commissions. The action is subject to ratification by the exchange members.

John J. McDonough, president of the Georgia Power Co., also said in his optimistic speech before the Atlanta Jaycees that all publicly announced anti-recession measures under consideration at the national level are "neither necessary or adequate, nor will they serve the country well in the long pull."

"They may have a reverse effect," he added.

In his speech entitled "No Room for Recession," the current president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce said the state's "forty or fifty thousand" unemployed does not mean the economy of Georgia is "in a tailspin."

SEES VOLUNTEERS

"Quite frankly, I think some of the people in the unemployment ranks are volunteers," McDonough said.

"You cannot attach much significance, I believe to the unemployment situation in Georgia."

Pointing out that there are "many sound businesses" in the state, McDonough cited his own company as an example because it is a firm "I know something about."

"In (Georgia Power Co.'s) plans, there is no room for recession," he said.

NO CUT-BACKS

"We are not reducing our work force. We are not contracting operations. We are not cutting back on our expansion program."

"On the contrary, we are pushing right ahead with a $60,000,000 program of construction and expansion this year. This is the greatest amount the company has ever spent for new construction in any single year."

"And, showing further confidence in the future, we are planning to spend an additional $85,000,000 for new facilities in 1959 and 1960. Just last week we sold $24,000,000 worth of first mortgage bonds. . . . This money and millions more will be put to work right here in Georgia."

DOUBLE LOAD

McDonough said Georgia Power likely will "double" its load capacity by 1963.

Aluminum Drop Tumbles Market

Dip for Third Straight Day Follows an Upward Trend

NEW YORK (AP)—An aluminum price cut hit the shares of that industry and the stock market declined for the third straight session.

Earlier a rise by machine tool, airline and selected issues gave an encouraging upward tendency to an irregular pattern. The aluminum news jolted the common stocks in that group and poured cold water over the budding improvement.

Aluminum, Ltd., a major producer, cut prices for the metal about 2 cents a pound. Aluminum shares fell from 1 to about 3 points. Other key stocks lost fractions to a point or so.

PLUS SIGNS
 Machine tools, airlines and other gainers showed plus signs of fractions to a point or so.

International oils were down as the White House tightened controls on crude oil imports. Rail carloadings were off again and shares of the leading carriers declined. Coppers, chemicals, motors and building materials also were lower.

Orders for machine tools were reported higher for the second straight month, adding strength to stocks in that field. This failed to produce any particular bulge to the list as a whole despite the barometric nature of machine tools in the economy. The airline shares rose after the Civil Aeronautics Board made some air trunkline awards.

730,000 SHARES
 American Stock Exchange prices were mixed. Volume was 730,000 shares compared with 480,000 yesterday. R. Hoe & Co. deferred the dividend on its Class A stock and the latter fell 1/4. Other losers included U.S. Foll. B. Tholok and Fairchild Camera. Gainers included Technicolor, Pacific Petroleum and Molybdenum.

Corporate bonds declined in light trading while U.S. Government bonds rose for the third straight day in moderately active dealings.

Dry Goods
 NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—The cotton textile market was slightly more active Thursday. Converters showed more interest in print cloths with some sales of the popular 60 square print cloths for second and third quarter delivery on average makes. Bulk substantial quantities at 17 cents were rejected. This belated construction continued to sell on spot sections was slow.
 The wool goods market was quiet. Australian wool markets were firm, according to private reports.
 In rayon goods, sales of flannel and sport fabrics for spot and nearby delivery increased slightly.

Veto Doubt Spurs Gains

CHICAGO (U-P)—The broadest rally of more than a week boosted nearly all grain futures prices fairly substantially on the Board of Trade.

Only a half dozen contracts had gains of less than a cent a bushel and of those half were in soybeans.

The corn contracts were the most uniform gainers at a cent or more in all deliveries and they closed near the best levels of the day.

A renewal of export business set off some of the buying which brought out a good volume of short-covering both in wheat and corn. Rye and oats followed the trend in the other grains.

In addition to exports and short-covering, some dealers were understood to have reinstated interests which were liquidated several days ago in the belief that President Eisenhower was certain to veto the bill to retain 1967 government price supports through 1968.

During the past few days there has been a growing belief in the trade that there is yet a possibility the 1967 supports either will be extended or some crops or that there will be a compromise between the 1967 figures and those proposed by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Crax To Fly Flags

JACKSONVILLE—After observing a dozen of the 16 major league clubs during a Florida cruise, your agent is more confident than ever that the World Series quiniela will be Milwaukee and New York.

There isn't a club in the American League capable of challenging the Yankees. Boston, the Citrus Circuit leader, may nose out Chicago for the place money. In the National League the St. Louis Cardinals are likely to provide stiff competition for the Braves. Here's the way we hand-cap the Major League races: A. L.—New York, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Baltimore, Kansas City and Washington; N. L.—Milwaukee, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, San Francisco and Chicago.

It wasn't on the Academy Award list, but the Sugar Ray-Basilio film is the most exciting movie of 1958. The 37-year-old Robinson is still rhythm in motion, and they don't come any gamier than Basilio. . . . They don't pay off on what happens in the spring, but the Cards edged the Yanks for the championship of St. Pete for the fourth straight year.

Florida Derby at Gulfstream Saturday may provide a surprise, but Calumet's Tim Tam looks like a shoe-in. The race, incidentally, is attracting more attention each year. . . . Bonus boy Mel Knach, who opened last season at second base for the Crackers, may return to Poncey for an encore. Herbie Clay, the Cracker rookie pitcher, is a refreshing change-up in an era of businessmen ballplayers. Some of the players told Clay that he might be shipped to Cedar Rapids and inquired whether he was familiar with the city. "Yeah, I know where it is," Herbie said. "It's in Waycross. They spring train there every year."

—The Mann Plan: More Players, Less Strikes

Affable John Mullen, Milwaukee farm director, foresees another good year for Braves affiliates. The Milwaukee system has led the minors in pennants for the last four years. . . . Speaking of pennants, Earl Mann intends to fly all 16 Cracker flags this summer. And why shouldn't Atlanta capitalize on the fact that it's the pennant capital of the minors? Mann, who has been here checking on his club, will visit minor league czar George Trautman in New Smyrna next week. Among other things, Mann will discuss his plan for a game employing free substitution. He is also interested in striking a league game in which batters will only be allowed two strikes or three balls. Which sounds like a sure method of speeding up games.

Easiest major league manager to interview is Casey Stengel. All you have to do is tune in, for the good professor talks more than a disk jockey. Walt Alston qualifies as the toughest. He's a terrific verbal broken field runner. . . . The best line about Chuck Dressen returning as Alston's coach was authored by Dick Young of The Daily News: "It's kinda like having your wife's first husband living in the house."

Gator Bowl picked a real sportsman when they handed Van Fletcher the president's gavel. Van is Jax's version of Toots Shor. . . . Lou Lombardo, former Little Rock southpaw, operates a mutuel machine at the Jax kennel club. Which reminds me that the best way to beat the dogs is with a stick. . . . The best way to beat the Yankees is play for the Braves on the afternoons Lew Burdette is pitching. . . . Cracker camp doesn't seem the same without Frank DiPrima. . . . Bob Montag, hobbled by a knee operation, thinks he'll be ready for action when the Southern curtain goes up. . . . Incidentally, I wonder if Southern directors have bothered to check on the financial crisis in New Orleans.

—Lane Has All the Answers, but No Pennants

The best way to get bombarded via the mail is to write that there isn't a class C team in the state capable of beating an AAA boys' basketball team. . . . My admiration for Stan Musial couldn't soar any higher, but it was a pleasure to observe him in the Card camp at St. Pete. He's just one of the guys, still wearing the same size cap that they handed him when he reached the majors. . . . There's been a lot of hullabaloo over Frank Lane's recent suggestion that mikes be installed behind third, first and the plate, which may not be a bad idea. But I always thought you went to see, not hear, a ball game. Incidentally, Lane, at one time or another, has figured out everything except how to win a major league pennant.

Dick Stuart, who stopped off at Poncey last summer, explains his surprising silence this spring: "I learned last year that you can't talk your way on a club." Big Stu, now bidding for the Pittsburgh first base job, also learned that you can talk your way off a club. . . . And isn't Ted Kluszewski through? His 1958 quotes sound like a sound track from '57.

Quotable quote: "What baseball needs is more talented fools and fewer untalented businessmen."—Dizzy Dean. Dean was both. . . . Most interesting baseball duet of the spring didn't take place on the diamond. It was the rueling rhubarb involving the Los Angeles Dodgers and the New York press.

I seldom agree with Rep. Emanuel Celler, the baseball gadfly from New York, but he's correct about one thing. Something should be done about distribution of talent in the majors. . . . Everywhere you travel on the baseball trail, writers inquire about the Tech and Georgia football teams.

New Approach For Dick Mayer: Slowdown and Win the Big 'Un

By BERT PRATHER

Quite a few fans will be keeping an eye on U.S. Open and Tam World champion Dick Mayer in next week's Masters.

They will be curious to see whether the rather leisurely training approach Mayer is now employing will net him the same success that last year's tour-toughening program did.

Mayer will stage a clinic in sporting goods department of a local department store Friday.

It will be remembered that Mayer was working quite regularly on the PGA circuit prior to scoring his sensational finish and smashing playoff victory over defending champion Cary Middlecoff in last year's National Open.

And Richard had little to say before grabbing the Tam jacket.

But since then Dick has made few tournament appearances, a couple in January on the Coast and in last week's St. Pete Open and the Seminole Pro-Am.

But word from Johnny Hawes, a

friend, says Mayer feels he now knows how to pace himself without the tournament toughening process.

And we understand that Dick feels he has his best chance yet to capture the big crown at Augusta National.

After all Sam Snead, second choice in The Constitution's annual writers' poll, has not been active on the current tour. Neither has Ben Hogan nor Cary Middle-

BATES, CLYDE KING HAVE SAME 'FEVER'

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla.—The last two managers the Atlanta Crackers have had are feeling the same way in the same town this spring—low.

Buddy Bates, current Cracker skipper whose charges have lost nine of 10 exhibition games, is the strong, silent type. He just grimaces and says, "I'm not doing so good."

But Clyde King, Cracker pilot in 1956 and now manager of the Columbus, Ohio, team in the American Assn., put it this way when his Pittsburgh Pirate farm hands dropped over from nearby Jacksonville Beach to tangle with Wichita Thursday:

"If they don't send me some pitching help soon, I'm going to jump the club."

King intimates that all pitchers on his current roster are of class B, C and D league caliber. Bates can't make that statement, but he does have license to put out a sign reading "Help—Help Wanted."

The only thing Thursday's change of scenery did for the Crackers was to give them a new outlook on defeat. They didn't lose their sixth straight battle to Wichita—because they weren't playing Wichita. But defeat at the hands of Salt Lake City was just as salty a dose.

From Press Dispatch

The Philadelphia Phillies jumped on Dick Donovan for six runs in three innings, including a pair of home runs, and a 6-2 exhibition victory over the Chicago White Sox Thursday at Clearwater, Fla.

Harry Anderson slammed a two-run blast over the right field wall in the first inning and Stan Lopata hit one with Anderson and Ted Kazanski on base in the third.

Jack Sanford held the White Sox to eight hits in the seven innings he worked. Jim Rivera's triple drove in one Chicago run and Rivera scored on a single by Jim Landis.

Mickey Mantle's ninth inning triple sparked a three-run rally by the New York Yankees that edged Kansas City, 5-4, at St. Petersburg. Shortstop Billy Hunter's pair of homers carried the A's to a 4-2 lead but veteran Murry Dickson walked Enos Slaughter and Hank Bauer in the ninth and Mantle followed with his long blast. Yogi Berra's single scored Mantle with the winning run.

In other exhibition games the Boston Red Sox edged Los Angeles, 2-1; Washington scored twice in the ninth to clip St. Louis, 2-1; Cincinnati walloped Pittsburgh, 9-1, and San Francisco blanked Baltimore, 10-0.

The Red Sox got only four hits but were presented seven walks, including one which forced over the winning run in the first inning to continue as top team in the Grapefruit League with a 10-4 mark.

St. Louis rookie Bob Mabe walked Washington's Herb Plews in the ninth inning with the bases loaded to force in the winning run. Each team got only three hits. Don Blasingame's fourth inning home run accounted for the Cardinal run.

Brooks Lawrence allowed Pittsburgh only three hits in seven innings and Willard Schmidt didn't allow a safety in the final two innings for Cincinnati.

LANIER HOLDS MOST POTENT LUMBER OF 1957 RETURNEES

By MICKEY LOGUE

Led by Auburn's L. F. Lanier, half of the Southeastern Conference's hitters return to further battling laurels this season.

Georgia Tech's Johnny Menger, whose terrific swinging helped turn the playoff tide against Alabama, won first honors with a .396 average.

Teammate Lane Akers placed seventh at .345, but he joined Menger in entering the professional ranks.

Lanier's .372 rate, good enough for fourth last season edges Plainsmen Rex Frederick's .360 among returning stickmen.

Others in the top ten back and their 1957 averages are Vanderbilt's Bob Gregor, .353; Tech's Earl Moore, .339, and Alabama's Jack Kubiszyn, .330.

HAPPY HUNTING GROUND—Baron Adolph Rupp, somewhat perturbed over the numerous "foreign" college coaches scouting Kentucky's state high school tournament, remarked to a gathering in Louisville, "I was beginning to think you guys thought the NCAA tournament was being played in Lexington."

"But you can't keep out-of-state prospectors out of a local uranium rush. And that's what they are having in the Blue Grass this season. There are 30 Kentucky high school boys who stand 5-6 or taller, and 15 are seniors. . . . They do all right in college, too. Vernon Hatten, a Lexington lad, led the Wildcats to the NCAA championship, and Hank Stein of Louisville paced Xavier of Ohio to the NIT title. Incidentally, Georgia Tech nearly signed Stein a few seasons back. Nevertheless, Coach Whack Hyder is plenty pleased over the way Kentuckians Terry Randall and Dave Denton have been pouring 'em in. Denton also showed his true academic mettle this winter, buckling down for a creditable 2.5 average. . . . The time couldn't be riper for Hyder, assistant Byron Gilbreath and players to take a deep, sweeping bow for the Big Dome explosion that jarred the Wildcats toward their fourth NCAA crown. And bowing right along with 'em should be Joel Eaves and company. The SEC "coach of the year" and his Tigers dealt Kentucky its last defeat of the season. Thoroughly impressed, Baron Rupp borrowed Eaves shuffle for the final walk.

Dave Sime is still a team man despite his individual accolades. Duke edged South Carolina's tracksters, 66½-64½, and couldn't have done it had the record-holding sprinter not pitched the javelin and discus for second places. . . . Several Georgians are excellent for Coach Weems Baskin's Gamecocks.

Don Goodree of Albany clicked for firsts in high and low hurdles. Former Druid Hill's Conway Snipes won the broad jump, and Buddy Mayfield, who led Bass to a state championship in 1955, captured his specialty, the 440. . . . Tom Nugent again has lined up plentiful oratorical talent for the fifth FSU coaching clinic.

Included are Alabama's Bear Bryant, Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty, Minnesota's Murray Warmath, Navy's Eddie Erdelatz and Los Angeles Rams' Sid Gillman. . . . Florida's John Mauer has corralled a speed king for his basketball club, Tommy Simpson, an all-state junior college guard in Mississippi, tours the 100 in :09.9.

Captain Foster Watkins led Coach Bobby Dodd's Jacket footballers to a splendid winter quarter academic showing. Watkins turned in a 3.9 mark. . . . Paul Bryant has a 52-week, 15-minute radio program entitled the "Bear Facts." Nineteen Alabama stations and one in Columbus will carry the show.

Mitchell and Guthrie Change Sports, but Not Their Pace

Lead Murphy Baseball Win

And so 3-AAA baseball is finally off. The look, surprisingly enough, is one left over from AAA basketball. . . . Murphy to the fore.

The Eagles became the region's first winner by stopping Smith, 2-1, on the exploits of ex-basketball ace Johnny Guthrie and Morris Mitchell, plus considerable aid from Tony Webb and Dave Guthrie.

Johnny Guthrie, the quick little youth who was a backcourt whiz with Bennie Davis' cagers, got the Eagles off with a first-inning single. Mitchell followed that with a similar safety, and smaller brother Dave Guthrie chased both across with a long two-out one-baser.

Webb worked carefully to protect that two-run cushion. Only worry of a run nature came in the third frame because of Bobby Ogletree's triple and an infield out.

Smith ace Robert Gumm threw this one for the Smithies in a six-hit losing cause. Gumm struck out four, as did Webb who needed seventh-inning relief from Johnny Guthrie.

This schedule in 3-AAA, originally a Tuesday-through-Thursday

Smith 001 000 0-1 2 1

Webb, Guthrie 17 and Gary, Gumm and Dittman.

Time Is Short For Joining AABF Leagues

Time is running out on baseball teams seeking entrance into the Atlanta Amateur Baseball Federation.

Team managers will hold a meeting Monday night at 7:30 at Reeder & McGaughey, Broad and Walton, to form leagues and hold schedule drawings.

Spots are open for two teams on Friday night play and two on Saturday afternoon play. Clarkston, Cartersville, Acworth, Roswell and Bremen have tentative plans for a league, with one team spot still available. The latter league will play on Wednesday and Saturday nights.

deal, is adding an extra two days this week because of so much rain. Bass at North Fulton, Roosevelt at Murphy and Smith at Fulton, all originally down for Tuesday, will go Friday, plus Southwest at Sylvan.

North Fulton at Murphy, originally an April 9 attraction, has been rescheduled for Saturday. Otherwise, Thursday rainouts go Monday, plus Wednesday's.

JACKIE SMITH WONDERS IF THIS FRAME WILL EVER RUN AGAIN (L-R) Don Bailey, Jack Smith and Aubrey Reeves Say It Will—and by Sunday

This Racing Business Is A Smith Family Matter

Car Is Built From Ground Up In Ready for Lakewood

One look at the collection of auto parts scattered over Jack Smith's Roswell garage Wednesday and even Smith's staunchest supporters would have gone looking for another favorite for Sunday's first race at Lakewood Speedway.

In the center of the floor was the frame—nothing more. In one corner sat the chassis and in another the body for Smith's Sunday mount, a 1957 Chevrolet. An engine was split into halves on a nearby table.

Jackie Smith, 10-year-old son of the Sandy Springs driver, asked the question a group of puzzled spectators were thinking: "Hey, pop, you're not gonna drive that car, are you?"

The answer is yes and from now until just before race time Smith and mechanics Don Bailey and Aubrey Reeves will be working into the night building a car from the ground up. All critical parts for the engine and transmission will be replaced and except for the frame and body, it'll be practically a new car.

Bailey, the engine master, called it "just routine."

"We do this after every race," he explained. Of course we don't level it to the floor, the way we've done this time, but the engine is completely gone over, pistons, spindles, plugs and all the little things replaced that can go bad in the race.

"You've got to do it that way if you plan on winning."

This time there's more work than usual, though. Smith didn't decide to enter here until late Tuesday night and had the car completely dismantled. When the decision was made, everybody went to work.

Even Jackie was kept busy, unpacking new axles, keeping tabs on nuts and bolts and wondering if there'll really be a white No. 47 ready in time for 1 p.m. trials Sunday.

"It'll be ready," Smith assured him. "But there'll be work here until way into the morning before it's ready."

There's special incentive to getting the car finely tuned and geared. Smith has a reputation for success at Lakewood and wants to keep it.

"That's one of my favorite tracks," he said. "Besides that, it's worth $10 every time you run a lap in front. So I'm gonna be trying for that pole spot, to get some of that lap money. And I imagine there'll be a lot of others trying the same thing."

The rear end was put in place and Smith was one level nearer a car. But still a long way to go.

JOINS MATES TODAY

Tech's Brantley Will Start In Florida Relays Saturday

James Brantley, Georgia Tech's sophomore track and field ace, will be a starter in the Florida Relays Saturday.

The blond flyer's scholastic problems have been cleared up and he will hop a plane Friday morning for Gainesville, Fla., where he'll join coach Norris

Dean and teammates Barry Sogerman, Cole Bryan and Tim Singleton.

And so, a big problem has been lifted from the broad shoulders of coach Dean.

The Vidalia speedster, winner of high hurdles and high jump at the Atlantic Coast indoor meet, will go in the high jump and high hurdles Saturday.

James hurt an ankle in the ACC meet, and limited his activities to high jumping at Montgomery's Coliseum Relays but wound up in a tie for first at 6-4.

He'll renew his battle with the man who tied him—George Pennington of Florida—Saturday.

With Brantley around remainder of the season, Tech's track picture is much brighter. He should be good for 15 to 20 points in most dual meets and might just be a double winner at Birmingham in the SEC championships come May.

University of Georgia's top scoring prospects at Gainesville Saturday are captain Denny

Jackson and Tom Simonon in the 100, Eddie Speer in the javelin and Sonny Poss in the high jump.

Over 1,000 athletes are entered. Several Georgia high schools will have entries in the bulging high school division.

WOULD YOU SAY THAT THERE'S A LITTLE COLLUSION AT TECH?
Coach Dodd (R) Gets the Wink from Coleman as Graves (L) and LSU's Dietzel Await Toss

Here's Basketball (?) Game With More Ounce to Bounce

Dodd's Squad Emerges . . .

By MICKEY LOGUE
If this rain doesn't let up, Georgia Tech's Bobby Dodd is liable to get together a team of coaches that can whip Kentucky's NCAA basketball champions.

Of course, there are other "ifs" involved. For instance, if Adolph Rupp is any sport at all, he'll agree to play center instead of Ed Beck. And they'll have to legalize Tonto Coleman's shuffling hook shot. But those are mere technicalities.

The talent is at hand, with more probably on the way. After inclement weather again had postponed Tech's spring football debut, coaches from LSU, Arkansas, Tech and Dartmouth collided (head-on sometimes) in friendly hardwood warfare.

Following the first round elimination, Dodd's shirts and Paul Dietzel's skins met for the championship. Dietzel edged Dodd in a free throw shootout to see which side got the ball first.

Dartmouth's Will Voltz, who seemed to be breathing more freely than most at the finish, provided a deadly one-handed punch for Dodd's side. Ray Graves' left hander from the side was virtually unstoppable, and Jack Griffin was sure from the outside. Dodd's quarterbacking and floor play may have turned the tide.

The shirts won. "They had one good play," Dodd said jokingly. "Burt Smith (Michigan State) was passing in to Byron Gilbreath under the basket. But we put Griffin and Graves on Gilbreath. Our teamwork did it. That Volta can really shoot."

Asked to classify Dodd as a basketball player, Dietzel, the LSU head football man, paused thoughtfully and replied: "He's a helluva football coach."

Pressed for a rebuttal, Dodd said: "I can't talk too much. He beat me last year. But I'd whole lot rather play Dietzel in basketball than football."

Take a listen at a few other game-side comments:

Tonto Shuffle Fools No One

Coleman (under his breath so everybody in the building can hear him): "I have to take it easy on him in practice so he won't cut my pay."

Dodd (after a crazy opposing shot went in): "Man, your own teammates were holering not to shoot that one."

Dietzel (replying to query after he barreled through opponents to layup): "NO! Our all-America fullback Jimmy Taylor didn't teach me that shot."

LSU assistant Bill Peterson: "That Gilbreath is really rough under those boards. Is he a coach?"

Arkansas' Jim MacKenzie, Doug Dickey, Wilson Matthews (in chorus): "If only Frank Broyles had let us know what we're getting into, we'd have gotten into shape."

Coleman (summing it up for everybody. There were no officials: "We're being took honest if we expect to win."

There were new arrivals. Herb Appenzeller, head coach at Guilford College, is on the scene. And Joe Bryson of Elon is due in momentarily. There will be no scrimmage Saturday. In the future, however, scrimmages will be Tuesday and Saturday rituals. No change has been listed in the April 25 T Night date.

KEGLER'S CORNER

Tourneys Bustin' Out All Over at O'Neil's

By PAUL ATKINSON

If your craving is for tournament bowling, then Saturday's the date and O'Neil Bowlerama's the place.

They'll go with two tournaments. First is the American Junior Bowling Congress Malignographic Tournament at 9:30 a.m., and at 3:30 p.m., the city's women take over for their annual kegling competition.

This tournament for the women is their largest ever. A staggering total of 38 teams take over the alleys in two shifts Saturday for team play. They'll go at 7 in the second shift.

Sunday is devoted solely to singles and doubles, and this opens at 1 p.m., with other shifts at 4 and 7.

Virginia Winkle, of course, is defending singles champion. Names to jot down as contenders in the AJBC scuffling are Chuck Nieman and Hank Alexander in junior boys; Fay and Dottie Newberry, and Fay Farmer among the girls. Sheena Tice has high average for the bantam girls.

Miss Farmer, incidentally, missed by two pins being in the prize money for a nationwide Christmas tournament. Scores of the 12 junior and five bantam teams will be dispatched to AJBC headquarters; so, in actuality, it's a national tournament.

TENPIN ALLEY—These were scores they cheered in the City Tenpin League: Ed Porter, 580; Bill Johnson, 570; Abe Hyman, 563; Fred Lill, 556; Chuck Harden, 542; and Tom Myers, 542. . . . And in the Northside League, these: Ralph Mosley, 611; Sam O'Neil, 595; Bill Dempster, 586; Mike Cleveland, 583; P. J. Duffy, 573; Ed McDermott, 572; Bill Byars, 570; Charlie Hartridge, 567; Howard Burton, 557; Henry Land, 557; Bud Schulte, Carl Schulke, 556; Harold Jones, 556; Frank Schroer, 555; Roy Gough, 543. . . .

Esther Monfort's 509 topped the Hi-Lo Ladies League. Allene Farmer had 499; Evelyn McClellan, 485; and Mary Lane, 450. . . . Estelle Gray's 484 paced the Buckhead Ladies; Virginia Winkle went 449; Marjorie Lampe, 439; Doris Spencer, 438; Ann Hamilton, 427. . . . They closed the entry list for the state men's tournament and 92 teams came forth for the April 12-20 firing at O'Neil's. . . . Date for the Georgia Bowling Assn. meeting is April 20, with an 8:30 a.m. breakfast at the Dogwood Dining Room. . . . The AJBC passes word that 6,876 teams, 34,380 youths will compete in its tournament Saturday. Wow. . . . The B.O.P. League had these highs: Howard Dinmore, 626; Clyde Smith, 569; Andrew Biggs, 532. . . . And from the O'Reilly Council K of C, these are best: Gordon Fowler, 547 (scratch); Walter Neid Jr., 529; Tom Bender, 529.

DUCKPINNING—Drivers drove the ball down the alleys best to take third round of ANI squabbling. Wildcats and Advertising join in for a five-game rolloff for the crown. Fred White's 163 was high game of season; Bill Collins' 109 average was superior over the full route; and these officers were named for new campaign: Bobby Fitzgerald, president; Andy Massey, secretary; and L. Kenneth Peet, veep. . . . Jim Hones' 400 set, 177 game were the "most" in YMCA Industrial League. . . . Jesse Taylor and Mary Rowe had 344 and 275 sets to top the Life of Georgia weekly gathering. . . . And Jack Woods' 405 was best set in the Sunday School League. . . . Al Darnell's 387 set and John Longino's 156 game climbed the heights in Civic Clubs' kegling. . . . Flora Holland's 331 set, 149 game sparkled in the YWCA League. . . . Martha Cleveland's 376 set wowed 'em in the Ladies Commercial doings. . . . And Allie Allen's 393 set, 144 game were best in the Ladies' Major League.

The bidding:

North East South West
Pass 1 spade 2 hearts Pass
4 hearts 4 spades 3 hearts Pass
Pass Double Redoub. Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead. Four of spades. Today we present a wild and woolly hand, in which declarer was called upon to guess which of two suits would break evenly, hearts or clubs. A potentially large swing possibly as much as 3,000 points, hinged on his decision.

The bidding was of the frontier variety and South's reckless redouble was based on the hope that partner would put down either a club fit or five trumps. The opening spade lead was ruffed by declarer, who observed that he could not resort to a cross-ruff, for such line of play could yield no more than 10 tricks, at best—nine hearts and the ace of diamonds.

It was apparent, therefore, that success of his contract would depend upon the ability to establish clubs, and in order to bring that about, either hearts or clubs must break.

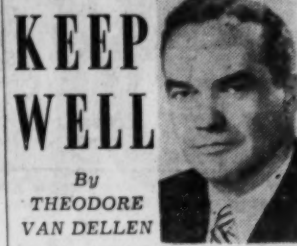

His first step was to ruff a club in dummy, return to his hand with a trump and ruff another club. Declarer now reached the point of decision. He chose to ruff himself in with a spade and ruff another club. That felled East's ace but exhausted dummy's trumps. In order to return to his hand, South was obliged to ruff another spade, shortening himself to one trump. When hearts failed to break he was down two tricks.

It would seem to me that after East's queen fell on the second club ruff, it was a good bet that the ace was now bare. Therefore, instead of weakening his hand with another ruff, South should lead dummy's last trump and draw West's remaining trump. A club should then be conceded, but South would still retain a trump for reentry with which to cash his remaining clubs.

True enough, East might still have the ace-jack of clubs if he had false carded in clubs and had held four originally. Therefore, on the suggested line of play he might be defeated an even trick. At a redoubled vulnerable contract that is a considerable factor.

Nevertheless, the better chance of bringing home the contract, in the eyes of this optimistic observer, is sufficient reason for taking the risk of going down another trick.

DOES GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKE YOU FEEL OLD?
NEW YORK—Special: Thanks to new, scientific laboratory formulation, thousands of men and women now escape feeling old, tired, irritable and depressed from losing sleep and worrying about "Bladder Weakness"—too frequent, burning and itching urination, bed wetting, getting up nights—or Strong Cloudy Urine, due to common kidney or bladder irritation, which often result in secondary backache, headache and nervousness. In such cases, new improved CYTETEX usually gives quick, calming relief by combating irritating germs in acid urine; and by relaxing analgesic pain relief. Over a billion CYTETEX laboratory—proven safety and success. Get Laboratory Tested and Certified CYTETEX at drugstore today. See how much better you feel tomorrow. Money back guarantee.

KEEP WELL

Questions Answered

F. J. writes: I have the bad habit of biting my gums.
REPLY: This I must see. If you mean you bite your lips, tongue, or inner cheeks, a conscious effort must be made to break the habit.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT—
A child is born with an ounce of honey on each thumb, and it takes three years to suck it off.—Chinese proverb.

Mrs. T. writes: I had a tumor removed from an ovary and the surgeon said it contained hair and bits of jaw bone. How did these things get there?

REPLY: I assume you refer to a dermoid cyst or teratoma. The cause is not known but it is believed these lesions originate with unfertilized sex cells. The ovary normally contains large numbers of germ cells capable of producing another human body if fertilized by the male element. Now and then something makes one of these germ cells start reproducing while still in the ovary. The result is an imperfect hodgepodge of fetal tissue such as you describe.

B. A. M. writes: My 5-year-old daughter has a wandering eye and the eye doctors say it is amblyopia. Can you explain this condition?

REPLY: Amblyopia means a reduction in vision, usually of one eye. It cannot be corrected entirely with glasses, although some improvement is possible with suitable lenses and encouraging the bad eye to work by wearing a patch over the sound eye. The cause of this condition is not known.

L. D. writes: What is aortic stenosis?

REPLY: A type of heart disease in which the aortic valve is narrowed by scar tissue or a congenital defect. This valve separates the left ventricle from the main vessel that brings blood to the rest of the body (aorta). Rheumatic fever is the most common cause of aortic stenosis.

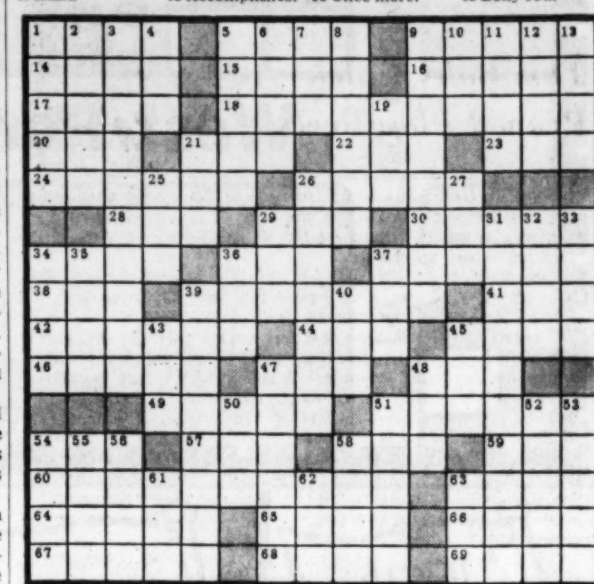

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions relating to health and hygiene in his column, and by mail when self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Letters should be addressed to Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen, c/o The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta 2, Ga.

YOUR STARS TODAY

In vain do they talk of happiness who never subdued an impulse in obedience to a principle.
—Horace Mann.

Daily Guide—In spite of the rather touchy atmosphere prevailing, there could be some constructive work done today, and some solid cooperating toward a more permanent goal. This is the time to stand your ground against the winds of impulse and caprice.

Social activities can be pleasant through cooperation and kindness. Be ready to accept progressive ideas and action. Excellent support can now help those born at the end of March, July or November.

Tomorrow another electrical day of tensions, so keep everything under control, keeping in mind the uncertainty and friction possible through Sunday.
Happy Birthday, Aries! This is a fine period for you to seek outside support for your new ventures and to earn the cooperation of other people, particularly of partner or mate.
Plan to start out with renewed confidence and energy in June. You have a long period when brilliant thinking and creative development can bring you much success.

This Baby Chick Peeped Plaintively

When the baby chicken started peeping plaintively on the elevator, the pretty girl looked at me strangely. We were the only passengers as the lift neared the top of the 17-story building.

I tried to look nonchalant.

Then when the sepulchral voice said "Let me off here! This is too high!" she looked at me again—this time almost in fear.

I still tried to look nonchalant.

Robert Lee Nash, who was the operator of the elevator and has run one in the building for 17 years, didn't say anything—that is to me or the girl. Nash is an amateur ventriloquist, and it was HIS chicken-sound and voice-sound, not mine. But the girl never even thought of him. She scooted through the door when we got to her floor.

Nash runs the rapid elevators in the Atlanta Federal Savings Bank Building. All of his regular "customers" know about the ventriloquist, but strangers to the building are often momentarily startled when voices start coming out of the walls, the doors, or the indirect lighting system.

"Got to have a little fun, you know," Nash said. "Some folks just think the operator is part of the machinery."

Apogee and Perigee

The way the Jupiter Cs and the Vanguard keep blasting off down in our neighboring state of Florida, we'll soon have a covey of satellites up there in space.

Better add a few words to your vocabulary: such as "apogee" and "perigee." Apogee is the point in space where a satellite is farthest from the earth. Perigee is the point where it is closest. You'll begin to hear the words in common usage in just a few months.

Of course, they are not new words. A man by the name of Kepler worked out the mathematical description of satellite orbits. It amazed me to find out the date when he made public his observations. 1619! Honest!

Newton worked out the mathematical reasons satellite orbits would be ellipses. You remember old apple-knocker Newton from your days in school. If you don't, ask any physics student. Newton did his great mathematical work in the 17th century also.

Makes the brain orbit a bit, doesn't it?

Minstrel Today At Doraville

The Crosskeys Kiwanis Club of Doraville will present a black-face minstrel show Friday evening at the Union Hall opposite Flowers Park on the Buford Highway in Doraville. Starting time is 7:30.

The show, proceeds from which will go to the club's underprivileged children's work, features a jazz band, spirituals and several specialty acts. Members of the club make up the cast.

Tickets will be on sale at the door.

US. Airman Killed In Morocco Crash

BOUASSER AIR BASE, Morocco, (AP)—A U. S. airman was killed Wednesday night when his T-33 jet trainer crashed four miles west of here.

A second crewman, 2nd Lt. Richard A. Bolstad, 28, of Minneapolis, Minn., parachuted to safety. The Air Force withheld identification of the dead man pending notification of next of kin.

RHYME A DAY

By OLLIE REEVES

"The modern revised version of the Holy Bible represents the combined work of many scholars through many years."

—Advertisement.

The King James version of the Book, with its poetic phrases . . . the wondrous Songs of Solomon and David's Psalms of praises . . . has been revised to meet the times but we are undecided . . . if we have gained more than we lost from what they have provided.

I may be wrong, I often am, but it is my conclusion . . . the scholars may have led us to a Babel of Confusion . . . like that of old, when men began to build a tower to glory . . . (I only mentioned this in case you don't recall the story).

Our mothers and our fathers found a world of consolation . . . in that Old Book with promises of "free and full salvation" . . . they didn't understand it all, but that was incidental . . . at least, they learned enough to grasp the solid fundamental.

What's to prevent some other group from making their decisions . . . to modernize the modern book and print a new revision?? Where little children may be told that David slew Goliath . . . he struck him with a ten-ton truck at Peachtree and Forsyth.

(For the benefit of out-of-town readers, two main stems in our fair city.)

Traffic Board To Air Speed on Expressway

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Expressway speed limits and progress being made on establishment of transit lanes on stretches of Pryor, Broad and Peachtree streets will be considered by the traffic and transportation commission Monday.

Traffic Eng. Karl Bevins said the group will meet at the city hall at 2 p.m. with a full agenda already prepared.

Fulton county grand jury has recommended that expressway speeds be increased to state limits—60 miles an hour in the day and 50 miles at night—but Bevins points out that the expressway from Peachtree station into Atlanta and the south expressway to Georgia avenue were engineered for 50-mile an hour top speed for traffic.

Bevins appeared to be ready to recommend that the 50-mile top at all times be maintained on stretches built for 50 mile traffic with a 60 mile daytime limit on other portions.

Bevins said clear weather will be needed to expedite installation of the three new lanes reserved for transit use. The first—the east side of Pryor street from Alabama street to Edgewood avenue—probably can be placed in operation next week, but the two others probably cannot be activated until after Easter.

Several other routine matters also are up for consideration by commission members. Included are a proposal for a new bus stop on Peachtree street near the new government building at Baker and Peachtree streets, better marking for excavation and maintenance work being done in streets, and proposed set backs on the north side of Ponce de Leon avenue from the Southern Railway bridge to Moreland avenue.

'Out of This World' Party 'Sends' Children

By VIRGINIA DYSARD
Constitution Food Editor

Once upon a time "gazing into space" was the height of laziness, but not any more. Everyone's space-gazing these days, and especially the youngsters.

So how about a birthday space party for them? All sorts of new ideas can come into view if, just for fun, you start a brain-storming session at the dinner table a few days before the party date. Some of the ideas may be a little far-fetched, or even too elaborate, but you'd be surprised what you can come up with by just getting the children's ideas on outer space. There will be star-spangled ideas for invitations, decorations, games, prizes, favors and food.

First take the cake, the star of the party—it's a big, round wonderful world! And sitting right on top of it is a peanut space boy, sky-scanning for new candy sputniks to conquer. For if they don't grow candy and other goodies up there, you can believe that no small fry will migrate beyond mother's kitchen.

Ice cream rockets blasting off for candy bases are placed around the cake world, but it men invading the party; the birthday fort is well guarded.

With flying saucer invitations, space helmet prizes, star lollipops and taffy rocket favors the space birthday party is sure to be a success.

If a few requisites are kept in mind there will be no danger of a flame-out.

No. 1 is to provide entertainment so the children will be kept busy. A busy child is an entertained child. Provide colorful, attractive refreshments. This problem is taken care of with the world cake and rocket ice cream cones.

Don't let the party last too long, for children, especially young ones, tire easily. Give each child some little favor to take home—salt water taffy rockets, space guns or jet airplanes.

Ten, nine, eight, seven, six, five, four, three, two, one—zero hour. With shrieks and shouts of glee the children dig in. It's the best birthday party any junior spaceman ever had.

won't take any 90 days for them to complete their journey. As the pint-sized space pals crowd around the sky chart tablecloth there is no hope of other space

PETER PEANUT BOY SITS ON TOP OF THE WORLD SKY-SCANNING FOR NEW WORLDS AND ADVENTURES TO CONQUER
With Ice Cream Rockets Ready to Blast Off at Any Minute, the Space Birthday Party Is Sure to Be a Noisy but Positive Success

The Table Is a Heavenly Place When Party 'Blasts Into Space'

Now that the space party menu is all planned out for you, all there is left to do is run into the kitchen and whip together some of these combinations. If there is an older sister she will probably get a kick out of making and serving some of the younger ones.

If you think the young lady of the household is able, just turn the party over to her to get the favors, etc. Course there will be a few jobs for the regular homemaker like baking the cake, frosting it and making the other goodies that little sister is not experienced enough to do.

Try these recipes on for size, some of them are sure to fit.

SPACE BOY PEANUT CAKE

For more (or hungrier) space pals, plan for two cakes, bake separately. Ring in the theme with 1/2 cup ground salted pe-nuts per cake, a sprinkling of nuts folded in with each addition of the flour mixture. Turn the batter into a big round-bottomed ovenware mixing bowl. Bake and cook according to recipe directions. Repeat for the second cake if needed.

For a one-cake space party, settle for a hemisphere. Turn out cooked cake topside down on a big cake plate. For a two-cake crowd, place the first cake curved-side down. Spread the top with peanut butter fudge frosting. Add cake No. 2 to complete the sphere. It will settle a little, so those down-under countries won't need to be frosted.

Now frost cake completely with creamy vanilla butter icing or seven-minute frosting. Fill smoothly where the two cakes meet. Look at a map of the world. On the icing, lightly outline the continents with a toothpick. Load a frosting gun or pastry tube with peanut butter frosting and follow this outline. With a spoon tip, fill in with the fudge frosting.

PEANUT BUTTER FROSTING
Blend 6 tablespoons cocoa with 1/2 cup hot water. Beat in 1/2 cup peanut butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla and a pinch of salt. Gradually stir in 2 1/2 cups confectioner's sugar. If needed, add a very little hot water till of spreading consistency.

GOOFY GOOBER SPACE BOY
On top of the world cake goes a star-gazing space boy. The youngsters can make him, and one for each space pal to take home. With a big needle, poke holes in roasted peanuts for body, head, feet and hands. Cut pipe cleaners in half, tip with household cement or glue, and push into holes. Let dry. Add a face and a pipe cleaner beanie cap. Make a three-stage telescope with a 2-inch section each of thick and thin drink straws, plus a toothpick. More toothpicks packed between straws will hold the scope rigid. Lastly, poke the scope's toothpick section into your space boy's eye and bend his hands up to balance it.

Time for eats? Break out the soft drinks and scoop up ice cream cone rockets. Call the cream cone rockets.

ICE CREAM CONE ROCKETS
Turn a level scoop of ice cream round-side down on a dessert plate. Top firmly with a second scoop to form a ball. Cap slantwise with a colored cake cone. Arrange ready-cut wedges of chocolate-peanut candy bar for the rocket's base.

If the party hostess is still looking for more ideas, the end is in sight: Curly ques, which boast an easy spiral biscuit coating made of pancake mix, are winners with such winning ways.

CURLY QUES
1 cup pancake mix
1 tsp. garlic salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup plus 1 tbsp. milk
8 wieners

Heat oven to hot (425 degrees). Place pancake mix and garlic salt in bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk; stir lightly only until mixture is dampened.

Turn dough out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to form a rectangle 6x12 inches. Cut into 8 strips, each strip 3/4x12 inches. Wind a strip around each wiener, spiral fashion, fastening dough at each end with a toothpick. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in preheated oven (425 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes. To serve, insert wooden skewers and serve hot with catsup or mustard.

JUMBO HERMITS
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. ground cloves
1/2 cup shortening, soft
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tbsp. milk
1 1/2 cups oatmeal (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
1 cup raisins

Heat oven to moderate (375 degrees). Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices into bowl. Add shortening, sugar, eggs and milk. Beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Stir in oats and raisins.

Drop from a tablespoon onto greased cookie sheets. Bake in pre-heated oven (375 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 2 dozen cookies.

Taffy's Big Red Ribbon For Child's Daffy Favor

With two extra minutes, salt water taffy can be shaped into rockets and given as favors to the jet commandos.

Just place about five of them in a small paper bag and tie it with a big ribbon, or if one of the older children has a good idea for favor and decoration, let him take charge.

SALT WATER TAFFY

2 cups sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1 1/2 cups water
3/4 tsp. salt
2 tps. glycerine
2 tps. butter
Combine sugar, syrup, water, salt and glycerine and stir over low heat until the sugar is dissolved. Cook the syrup without stirring to between the firm and the hard ball stage. Remove from heat. Add butter and pour these ingredients onto a greased platter. Allow to cool until a dent can be made in it when pressed with a finger. Gather into a lump and pull it with the fingertips until it is light and porous. Pull any desired flavoring or coloring into the candy. Shape it into long thin strips and cut them into one-inch pieces. Place the candy in a tightly covered tin if you wish it to become creamy.

HERE'S A GOOD WAY TO WELCOME THE FIRST BUDS OF SPRING
Catch Up On the News at an Informal Afternoon Coffee With Chocolate Pin Wheels

Come Out of Winter Hibernation

Now that spring is here, it's time to come out of hibernation and do a little entertaining. Nothing extravagant, mind you, but something simple and altogether sociable. Of course, an afternoon coffee fills the bill to perfection and gives you a chance to catch up on all the winter's news!

After you've called your friends, you'll want to get busy and make something sweet to go with the coffee. Here's a suggestion for you, some delicious new cookies called chocolate pin wheels. They're made in swirls of rich chocolate and vanilla, and the results are short, crispy and mouth watering. What's more, they're easily made in the morning, all the better to enjoy in the afternoon.

CHOCOLATE PIN WHEELS

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 small, well-beaten egg
1/2 tsp. vanilla extract
1 cup sifted enriched flour
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 pkg. (1/2 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 tbsp. vegetable shortening

Work shortening with a spoon until fluffy and creamy. Add sugar gradually, while continuing to work with a spoon until light. Add half of well-beaten egg and vanilla, and mix thoroughly. Sift together the dry ingredients and gradually add, beating after each addition. Chill about two hours and then roll or pat into a rectangle about 8x12 inches. Melt chocolate and vegetable shortening over hot water and cool slightly. Spread on rectangle, leaving a border of at least one inch all around. Roll up firmly from narrow end. Wrap in foil and chill until firm enough to slice. Cut crosswise in slices about 1/4 inch thick. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about two dozen pinwheels.

Moist and cake-like, these raisin squares make a delicious accompaniment for a mid-afternoon cup of tea. Use either light or dark raisins in this recipe, both give you naturally sweet, sun-ripened flavor.

RAISIN SQUARES

1 1/2 cups light or dark raisins
1 cup walnuts
3 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
2 tps. vanilla
Powdered sugar

Rinse and drain raisins. Chop raisins and walnuts. Beat eggs thoroughly. Stir in sugar, raisins and walnuts. Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Blend into egg mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly. Pour into greased shallow pan (about 8x12 inches). Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes. When cool, cut into squares and roll in powdered sugar. Makes 24 squares.

First of Spring Cobbler Delicious

Crisp, rosy-red rhubarb is one of the first of the spring delicacies to put in its appearance and it's one of the best. Introduce it with a flourish in this pineapple-rhubarb cobbler.

The fruit mixture, sweetened with brown sugar and faintly flavored with nutmeg, goes into a casserole, then little scone swirls are arranged on top.

Leftovers may be put back into the oven for a few minutes just before serving again.

PINEAPPLE-RHUBARB COBBLER

3 tbsps. butter or margarine
3 tbsps. enriched flour
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
Dash of salt
1 cup water
1 1/2 cups of pineapple chunks
1 1/2 cups of rhubarb, cut in one-inch lengths

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan, stir in flour, sugar, nutmeg and salt. Add water and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add pineapple and rhubarb. Remove from heat. Pour into ungreased, 2-quart casserole. Top with scone swirls.

dough (or use scone mix). Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead gently for 30 seconds. Roll out into long, narrow strip 5x12 inches and 1/4-inch thick. Cut into 6 equal strips of dough about 1/4 inches wide. Coil loosely, leaving about a two-inch end. Arrange on top of pineapple-rhubarb mixture, with ends meeting in center.

Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) for 35 minutes. Serve warm with cream. (Serves 6.)

New! MILE-HIGH CHEESE SOUFFLE!

Light! Fluffy! Delicious! This is a wonderful treat to serve your guests!

Melt 1/4 cup butter. Stir in 1/4 cup sifted flour and 2 tsp. Sterling Salt, 1/2 tsp. paprika, dash cayenne. Slowly stir in 2 cups milk. Continue to stir and cook over low heat until sauce is thick and smooth. Add 2 cups shredded sharp cheese; stir and cook until blended. Remove from heat. Beat 8 egg yolks until foamy; stir into sauce. Beat whites stiff but not dry. Carefully fold sauce into whites. Pour into buttered 3-qt. casserole. Bake in hot oven (475°) 10 minutes, reduce heat to 400° and continue baking for 25 minutes. Serves six.

P. S. Any dish has extra flavor richness when cooked and seasoned with Sterling Salt!

Complete casserole meal—ready for you to heat and serve! 12 beef meat balls in rich brown beef gravy make this a really hearty feast!

Plus plenty of tasty vegetables—tender carrots, peas and snowy potatoes. Each bite is a delight.

Thrifty, too! New Meat Ball Stew costs only about 15¢ a serving. Try this new treat on your family tonight!

Made in the Chef Boy-Ar-Dee kitchens of American Home Foods

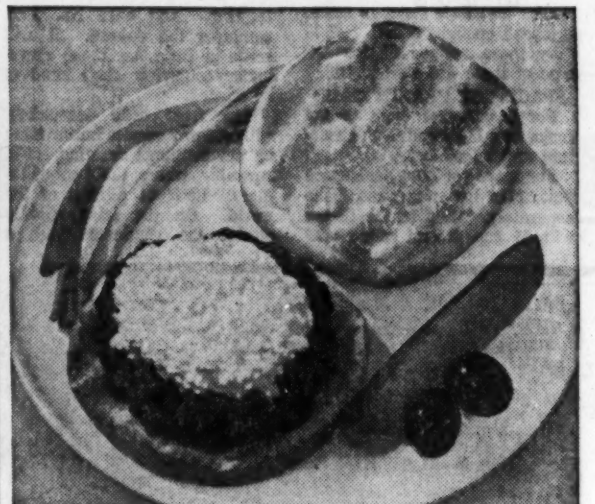

NEW IDEAS: fresh from the Foremost Dairy Kitchens!

—for everything from dips to desserts!

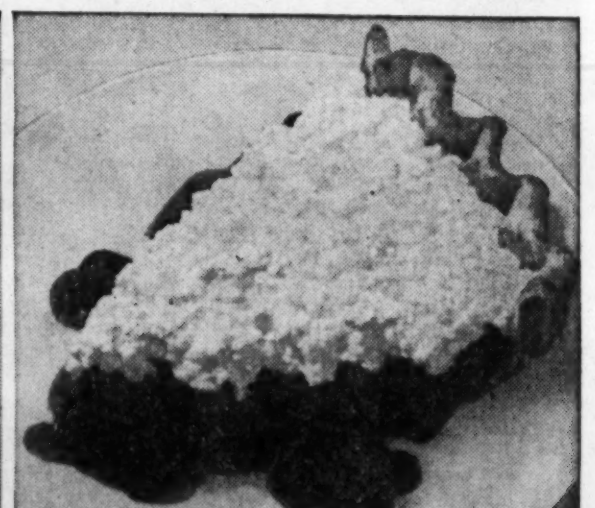

Look what Foremost does for DIPS! Only half the cost and one-fourth the calories of cream cheese! Blend 2 cups Foremost Cottage Cheese with 1/4 cup each minced onion and green pepper, plus a dash of curry powder and salt.

Look what Foremost does for HAMBURGER! New kind of cheeseburger! New high in nourishment! Just top 'burgers with Foremost Cottage Cheese. (Idea: blend the Foremost first with a dash of either soy sauce or catsup.)

Look what Foremost does for SALADS! New idea: an Outrigger Salad! Slice banana lengthwise, and place halves alongside a snowy scoop of Foremost Cottage Cheese. Add pretzel sticks and "cargo" of crushed pineapple.

Look what Foremost does for DESSERTS! Fancy looking—but it's easy as pie! All you do is "frost" a fruit pie with Foremost Cottage Cheese. It spreads on smooth and creamy...teams up perfectly with 'most any kind of fruit!

And Foremost Cottage Cheese...

Guards your health... because it's so rich in proteins, vitamins, minerals!

YOUR FAMILY GETS THE MOST FROM FOREMOST

Let us foot Uncle Sam's bill! That's the amazing first prize in Seabrook Farms great new contest. Just complete the line—"Why I would like Seabrook Farms to pay my (or my husband's) 1957 Federal Income Tax," in 25 words or less. Mail your entry, with the front panel from 5 packages of Seabrook Farms Vegetables to: Seabrook Farms Income Tax Contest, Seabrook, New Jersey. Everybody wins! All contestants get 30 cents in coupons, good toward the purchase of Seabrook Farms products. You'll love that fresh-from-the-farm flavor that Seabrook freezes into every package.

HERE ARE THE SIMPLE CONTEST RULES: 1. Submit as many entries as you wish, but each entry must be accompanied by the wrappers from 5 packages of Seabrook Farms Vegetables or Fruits. 2. Entries will be judged by Seabrook Farms Company on the basis of originality and spiciness of thought. Decisions of judges will be final. Reimbursement limited to $5000. 3. Easter Lily Coffee Cake For April's Early Days

Early April is the time for attractive Easter lily coffee cake:

EASTER LILY COFFEE CAKE
2 pkgs. yeast, compressed or dry
1 cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
1 cup milk
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 tps. salt
3 tps. melted shortening
3/4 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
1 egg
Melted butter or margarine
Raisin-nut filling

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add enough flour to make a thick batter. Mix well. Add softened yeast and egg. Beat well. Add more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). Punch down. Divide dough into 2 equal portions. Let rest 10 minutes. Pat on roll each portion of dough into a circle about 1/4-inch thick and 12 inches in diameter. Cut circle from edge almost to center, making 6 wedge-shaped sections. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Place about 2 tablespoons filling on each section. Seal edges of each section about 1 inch from outer edge to the center. Curve each roll in the same direction and spread outer edges to resemble the petal of a lily. Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 20 minutes. Makes 2 Easter lily coffee cakes.

RAISIN-NUT FILLING

1/4 cup sugar
2 tps. enriched flour
1 cup dark seedless raisins
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Mix sugar and flour. Add raisins and water. Simmer until thickened, about 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Stir in nuts. Cool. Makes about 1 1/4 cups filling.

THE EASTER PARADE CASSEROLE IS AN ALL-PURPOSE EASTER FOOD
These Orange Flavored Sweet Potatoes Can Be Prepared the Day Before

Try an Easter Parade Casserole

Easter parade casserole is an all-purpose Easter food. Mom can prepare these delicious, crunchy, orange-flavored sweet potatoes the day before so that she'll be free for all those wonderful purposes and festivities.

For instance, what kind of an Easter egg hunt could one possibly have if Mom weren't there to show the proper surprise at the amazing places that old bunny hid all those beautiful eggs? Furthermore, how is Suzy going to be the prettiest little girl in Sunday School if Mom must spend time preparing for dinner instead of brushing her hair, arranging ruffles, etc.? Last of all, Pop will look pretty silly in the Easter parade if Mom isn't on his arm.

Naturally, Mother is too smart to plan an Easter dinner that will occupy her time on Sunday. Instead, she'll season mashed sweet potatoes with a little brown sugar, butter, and just enough concentrated orange juice to be mysterious. Concentrated orange juice is frozen juice that is thawed but not diluted. The juice not only gives the potatoes a wonderful flavor, but makes them a brighter orange color.

The potatoes will be stored in the refrigerator in her prettiest oven-proof casserole. Then Mrs. Homemaker will heat bite-size shredded rice biscuits in melted butter and brown sugar and set them aside to crumble for a crispy, caramel-flavored topping just before heating the Easter parade casserole.

When the tomato aspic or favorite molded salad and the coconut cake have been baked, Easter Sunday dinner is just about ready except for heating the food.

On Sunday, an hour before the beautiful baked ham is taken from the oven, Mom will heat the casserole and with very little Sunday effort, the best looking family in the Easter parade will have all this and Mom, too.

EASTER PARADE CASSEROLE

3/4 cup margarine or butter, melted
1/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 cups bite-size shredded rice biscuits
4 medium sweet potatoes (2 cups mashed)
1 tps. orange juice concentrate
1 1/2 tps. salt
1/4 tsp. white pepper
Heat oven to slow to moderate (325-350 degrees). Butter casserole. Heat half of butter and brown sugar in skillet. Add shredded rice biscuits. Stir over low heat to coat thoroughly. Set aside. Cook and mash sweet potatoes. Add remaining butter, brown sugar, orange juice, and seasonings. Mix thoroughly. Place in baking dish. Crush cereal slightly. Sprinkle on potatoes. Bake one hour, or until browned.

Something New, Easy in Toppings

Melt one 6-ounce package of semi-sweet chocolate morsels over a low gas flame with one third cup of hot water. Stir in one-third cup of orange marmalade and that's all you have to do. This is a flavor combination that will raise an eye-brow or two. Serve it warm or cool over ice cream, cake, gingerbread, or cream puffs. Yield is 1 cup.

Extra Appeal in Baked Custard With Strawberry

Baked custards have extra appeal when they are chilled, turned out of their baking cups and served with strawberries (fresh or frozen) or canned apricot halves. You can buy a small (about 8 ounces) can of the apricots for this topping.

An Ideal Dish For a Buffet

An ordinary cabbage salad becomes a gourmet's delight when slivers of Italian dry salami and shiny ripe olive wedges are added. Ideal for buffet salad when served in large bowl with a garnish of whole ripe olives and thin slices of salami.

Talk of Party Is the Cheese Dip

This sherried cheese dip will be the talk of your party. There is nothing very unusual about the ingredients, but they combine perfectly with each other to make an excellent spread or dip for crisp crackers or potato chips.

SHERRIED CHEESE DIP
1 (3-oz.) pkg. cream cheese
1 (2½-oz.) can deviled ham
2 to 4 tbsps. dry sherry wine
1 cup country style or small-curd cottage cheese
Few drops tabasco sauce
Salt
Chopped green onion or parsley

Blend cream cheese with deviled ham until smooth. Beat in wine, cottage cheese, Tabasco sauce and salt to taste. Pile into bowl and sprinkle with chopped green onion or parsley. Serve with crisp crackers or potato chips.

Fatless Formula Adds Margarine

When you are baking popovers, inclusion yields a slightly richer choose a recipe that includes hot bread than the fatless for some butter or margarine; this mola.

Gloss Over Pie With Meringue

Tender, glossy meringues are the perfect finishing touch for lemon pie.

Home economists have a secret they share with home-makers who have meringue problems. They add 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar for each two eggs and beat until frothy. They then add 1/4 cup sugar gradually, beating at high speed until the meringue feels smooth when a pinch of it is rubbed between the fingers.

When the meringue feels smooth, it is ready to spread on the pie filling. It should be baked at 330 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes, or until it is delicately browned.

Cook Bacon First!

Hot Water

Prevents Scorching
It's best to melt chocolate over hot water, rather than direct heat, because it scorches easily.

Honey Delight Is An Easy Dessert For Serving

If you are looking for an inexpensive easily made dessert to serve your family for dinner, you'll find this honey delight the answer. When you make it for the family, you'll discover that it is pretty enough and tasty enough to serve for party occasions too.

HONEY DELIGHT
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup honey
Juice of 1/2 lemon
1 can evaporated milk
1 lb. vanilla wafers
Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add honey and lemon juice and mix well. Fold in the evaporated milk that has been chilled and whipped. Pour this mixture into a pan that has been lined with crushed vanilla

Flavor Preserved
Add liquid to braised meat a small amount at a time to preserve color and flavor.

wafers. Place crushed vanilla wafers on top of mixture and put in refrigerator to set. Cut into squares. Serves 6 to 8.

Milk Chocolate Raisin Pie Is One the Fans Will Love

Chocolate fans will delight in this milk chocolate raisin pie. The fruity custard-type filling is complemented by a flaky pastry crust and tender meringue. Use either light or dark raisins, as both have tangy-sweetness, full flavor and a delightful chewy texture.

MILK CHOCOLATE RAISIN PIE

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup light or dark raisins
1 1-oz. square unsweetened chocolate
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups milk
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. salt
3 eggs
4 tbsps. cornstarch
baked 8-inch pastry shell
6 tbsps. sugar for meringue

Cover raisins with boiling water and let stand 5 minutes; drain. Cut chocolate fine and combine with 2 cups milk, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar and salt. Scald over hot water. Separate eggs and beat yolks. Blend in cornstarch moistened in remaining $\frac{1}{4}$ cup cold milk. Add to scalded milk mixture and stir and cook until thick, (about 5 minutes). Remove from heat and stir in raisins. Pour into baked pastry shell. Cover top with meringue made from egg whites and remaining 6 tablespoons sugar. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) about 8 minutes or until well browned. Makes 1 (8-inch) pie.

Rhubarb Pineapple Favorite

After the long stretch of winter, the first fresh fruits of the spring season afford a splendid opportunity to vary the daily menus. And, the tempting dishes which can be made through the combination of several of these fruits offer unusual flavor variations to your favorite recipes.

Here are two recipes, recently developed which use two of these springtime fruits. One is for an easy-to-make pie in which the tartness of rhubarb and the tropical flavor of pineapple are blended into a truly delectable dessert.

The second recipe is a rhubarb-pineapple pudding, topped with a crumbly brown sugar and graham cracker mixture. Each dessert offers a delightful contrast in flavors, whether served plain or topped with cream.

FRESH RHUBARB- PINEAPPLE PIE

1 9-inch unbaked pie shell and sufficient pastry for lattice top
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups fresh rhubarb
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups fresh pineapple
1 tbsps. lemon juice

Raisin Ring Coffee Cake Delightful

For your recipe files, here is a spicy raisin coffee ring which will delight all members of the family. It's delicious for breakfast or for snack time.

There's extra nourishment in today's recipe for raisin coffee ring for it is enriched with dry milk. It is top-quality pasteurized milk with only the fat and water removed and is a valuable source of milk's important nutrients, protein, calcium and riboflavin.

In this yeast dough for raisin coffee ring, there is no need to scald the milk. Simply add dry milk to the flour in the raisin coffee ring and use water as the liquid.

RAISIN COFFEE RING
1/2 cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
2 pkgs. or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
1 1/2 cups lukewarm water
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 tps. salt
2 eggs, well beaten
1/2 cup shortening
6-7 cups sifted flour
1 cup (one envelope) instant nonfat dry milk powder
2 tbsps. butter, softened

RAISIN-CINNAMON FILLING
1/2 cup sugar
2 tps. cinnamon
1/2 cup seeded raisins

CONFECTIONERS' FROSTING
1 cup sifted confectioners sugar
4 tps. liquefied instant nonfat dry milk

Dissolve yeast in the 1/2 cup water (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast or lukewarm for compressed yeast) in large mixing bowl. Stir in 1 1/2 cups lukewarm water, sugar and salt. Add beaten eggs and shortening. Beat (shortening will be in small lumps). Sift flour with dry milk powder. Add about 5 cups of the flour-milk mixture to yeast mixture. Beat thoroughly until very smooth, 2-3 minutes. Turn dough onto board well sprinkled with flour-milk mixture. Knead until smooth and elastic about

RAISIN COFFEE CAKE
Day's Extra Nourishment

8-10 minutes (dough will spring back when pressed firmly with fingers). Use a little more flour-milk mixture on board during kneading, if necessary. Place in large buttered bowl; brush with melted butter. Cover with clean cloth or waxed paper; let rise in warm place (85 degrees) until double (about 1 to 1 1/2 hours). Punch down dough with fist. Divide dough into 2 equal parts; roll out into a 15 x 9-inch rectangle. Spread with softened butter. Combine cinnamon and remaining sugar; sprinkle evenly over dough. Sprinkle with raisins. Beginning at wide end roll dough tightly, jelly roll fashion. Moistened ends; join to form a ring. With scissors, make cuts 2/3 of the way through ring at 1-inch intervals. Turn each slice slightly on its side. Let rise until double in bulk, about 35 to 40 minutes. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes or until well browned and firm. Makes 2 rings.

Special Dish Of Onions Adds Zest to Meals

Perk up a routine meal with this non-routine vegetable dish. Use canned or cooked onions and place them in a buttered casserole. Bake a sauce using 2 tablespoons ketchup, 1 tablespoon water, 1 teaspoon sugar and add salt and pepper to taste.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. If you like cheese, sprinkle 1/2 cup grated Swiss or cheddar cheese over the top of the casserole 10 minutes before removing it from the oven. This dish is compatible with roast beef, corned beef hash, meat loaf and fried chicken.

How To Choose Good Avocados

Avocados are ready to eat only when soft.

To test for softness, hold the fruit in the palms of your hands and press gently. If the fruit feels soft, it is ready to eat.

If firm, leave at room temperature for three or four days.

Do not refrigerate an avocado until it is soft. When soft, place in the warmest part of the refrigerator.

As I See It

Atlanta Has Lots Of Smart People

By PAUL JONES

Atlanta has its share of smart people. A talent scout for the $64,000 Question was in town Thursday and he turned up at least a dozen people who can be called "experts" on a variety of topics, ranging from religion to the circus.

It is too early yet to tell whether any of the candidates this scout interviewed will be used on the big quiz show.

But, Irving Harris said after talking to six candidates in his Biltmore Hotel suite, that "some of them are good prospects."

Harris explained that he is not looking only for mental alertness—but rather for someone who is bright and someone who "has a certain amount of charm—people you would like to meet or invite into your home."

The very personable representative of "The Question" said that candidates interviewed were experts on the Bible, geography, the circus, aviation and baseball. He indicated that several of the dozen interviewed were experts on the Bible.

A 15-year-old student who is interested in aviation was among those who would meet the quiz show representative late Thursday.

I asked if it was true that most geniuses were dull, and he answered, "Quite the contrary." "Unusually bright people who are interested in things other than their work are usually colorful, out-going people," said Harris.

While Harris does not have the final word on who will appear on the show, his recommendations do carry a lot of weight when it comes to naming the contestants for future programs.

He said, confidentially, that he had talked to an Atlanta woman who "sounded charming on the telephone." He did not disclose what is her category.

HARRIS SAID HE expects the big quiz shows—and especially $64,000 Question—to thrive on television for several seasons to come.

He based this opinion on the enthusiasm for the show which he encounters wherever he goes.

Harris is responsible for Virgil Earp, nephew of the late Wyatt Earp, being on the current $64,000 Question show.

"I was fascinated when I met Earp," said Harris. "Someone asked me later, 'Does he know anything about the Old West?' I told him he is the Old West."

Harris obviously enjoys his work, traveling around the country interviewing bright people about their hobbies.

When you get right down to it, the questions he asks the contestants are often worth $64,000, themselves.

RELIGIOUS PROGRAMMING will be a feature of the summer schedule. When Mike Wallace vacates his Saturday night spot May 3, Billy Graham will take over with a telecast from San Francisco, where he is going to conduct one of his evangelistic crusades.

No one knows what is going to happen to Wallace.

Dorothy Kirsten To Star On TV Summer Series

By VAL ADAMS

NEW YORK—Dorothy Kirsten of the Metropolitan will star on four television programs to be presented this summer by the National Broadcasting Co.

During a singing engagement in a Las Vegas hotel last fall, Miss Kirsten mixed operatic arias with lighter forms of music. Presumably she will present a similar type of performance on the TV show.

Miss Kirsten has made several guest appearances on television variety shows and once portrayed Jenny Lind in a drama role on NBC's Matinee Theater. In 1949 she co-starred with Frank Sinatra on radio's Hit Parade.

Dinah Shore will begin a 15-week vacation about the middle of June. Henry Jaffe Enterprises, producer of the series she stars in, is negotiating with other singers and performers to appear on the series this summer.

Anne Baxter will star in "Stop Over," a theater drama to be filmed next month. The story deals with a dance hall entertainer in the Old West who persuades a young ranch girl that life on

Brucker Names Dr. Albert Again

Dr. Allen D. Albert Jr., of Atlanta has been reappointed civilian aide for Georgia to Secretary of the Army Brucker.

Dr. Albert, professor of sociology at Emory University since 1946, was originally appointed an aide in January 1954, and received another appointment in 1956. Civilian aides are personally appointed by the army secretary to represent each state for two years. Georgia has two aides, the other being Erle Cocke Jr., of Dawson.

Does God Allow Slumps?

QUESTION: Why does God allow this national employment problem to be thrust upon the people? — N. R. R.

ANSWER: Certain things that come upon nations, are not necessarily ordained of God, but are the result of the law of cause and effect. God doesn't as a rule, go against the laws of the universe. Has it ever occurred to you that, as a nation, we have been living pretty fast? Ten times as much was spent last year for alcohol as was spent for all charitable and religious purposes. For 10 years people have been on a buying "spree," and as a nation we have felt pretty snug with our record-breaking economic boom.

We lead the world in crime, in alcohol consumption and in gambling. It could well be that we are beginning to pay for some of our selfishness. It would not be surprising if things don't get considerably worse before they get better. The Bible says:

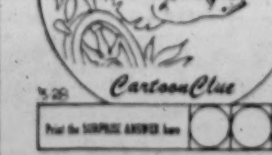

"Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." Labor and capital sometimes both talk as though "economics" is the central issue of life. But I read in my Bible a question we should all ponder:

"What is it profited a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

LEMON SPONGE PUDDING IS FOR DIETERS' DESSERT
Here is a Recipe for Sweets That Has Only 124 Calories Per Serving

Calorie Counting Dessert of Lemon

Counting calories but love desserts? Here is a recipe with only 124 calories a serving that will top off any meal with a delicious treat that respects the waistline.

It's actually two desserts in one and baked in a single dish. The fresh fruit flavor of creamy-smooth lemon pudding topped with golden lemon cake is a combination to satisfy both the weight watcher and those fortunates who need not bother with calories.

Lemon sponge pudding, made with new Pet Instant nonfat dry milk, is just one of many delightful treats that can be made with this low fat sparkle and vitality product.

LEMON SPONGE PUDDING
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup instant non-fat dry milk (in dry form)
1 1/2 cups lemon juice
1/2 cup lemon juice
3 eggs, separated
1 cup water

Sift sugar, flour and salt into 2-quart bowl. Mix in new Pet Instant nonfat dry milk. Stir in lemon juice, lemon rind and well-beaten egg yolks. Gradually stir in water until smooth. In a 1-quart bowl, beat egg whites with rotary beater by hand, or with electric beater at high speed, until stiff. Fold into egg yolk mixture until well mixed. Pour into a 1-quart baking dish. Set in shallow pan holding about 1 inch of hot water. Bake near center of 350-degree oven (moderate) for 35 to 40 minutes, or until top is light brown and mixture is firm.

Serve warm. Makes 6 servings. 124 calories in one serving.

Thickness Decides
The time meat needs to be broiled will depend on its thickness rather than its weight.

Puffettes Of Anise For Friends

One sign of a good hostess is the ease with which she can prepare a meal or snack when friends drop in unexpectedly. And should you probe, you'll find her secret lies in her well-stocked file of easy-to-make, quick recipes which she maintains for just such hurried preparation.

One spur-of-the-moment recipe, recently developed is Anise Puffettes, an Italian version of the ever-popular doughnut. It takes less than an hour to prepare, from assembling the ingredients to sugaring the cooked dainties. And, by the time your fresh pot of coffee has perked, those golden-brown, deliciously flavored treats will be ready to serve.

Of course, you needn't wait for company. Treat your family with these tasty puffettes today.

ANISE PUFFETTES
1 1/2 cups flour
Dash of salt
1 1/2 cups baking powder
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/2 cup water
1 tsp. anise flavoring
2 cups salad oil
1/2 cup sugar

Sift flour, salt, baking powder and 1/2 cup sugar. Combine eggs, water and anise flavor. Add to dry ingredients and blend thoroughly. Drop by tablespoon into hot fat (350 degrees). Fry 2 or 3 puffs at a time, turning each puff once, until golden brown (about 3 minutes). Drain on absorbent paper and roll in sugar while hot. Makes 18 puffs.

Salmon Tamale Pie For Fastidious Hostess

The most fastidious hostess need not hesitate a moment to serve this salmon tamale pie to her guests. The ingredients blend successfully into a symphony of good eating.

SALMON TAMALES PIE
1/2 cup yellow corn meal
1/2 cups boiling water
1 1/2 cups salt
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 cup chopped onion
1 tbsps. cooking oil
1 10-oz. can condensed tomato soup
1 tbsps. chili powder
1/2 tsp. salt
Dash cayenne pepper
2 cups canned or cooked salmon
1/2 cup ripe olives
1 cup grated American cheese

Stir corn meal slowly into boiling salted water, and cook over direct heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Set over hot water and continue cooking 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Blend in butter, and cool slightly. Cook onion slowly in oil until tender. Add soup and seasonings, and heat thoroughly. Remove skin and bones and flake fish. Cut olives into large pieces. Stir fish and olives into soup mixture. Remove from heat and add 1/2 cup cheese. Line 1 1/2-quart casserole with 1/4 of corn meal mush. Fill with
